

Eichmann Hanged By Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters) — Adolf Eichmann's body was cremated early today and the ashes scattered on the high seas shortly after he was hanged in Ramleh Prison near here.

A government announcement said the cremation took place aboard an Israeli police boat. It pointed out that a "similar procedure was followed with the remains of Nazi war criminals executed by order of the Nuremberg tribunal."

The 56-year-old mass murderer of 6,000,000 Jews was the first man to be executed in the Jewish state since Israel was established 14 years ago. REQUESTED CREMATION
The government communiqué said Eichmann's will "includes a request that his remains be cremated."

Eichmann had sent President Izak Ben-Zvi his plea for clemency Wednesday, after the Israeli Supreme Court upheld the death verdict rendered by the court that tried Eichmann last year in Jerusalem.

The president Thursday issued this announcement:

"The president of the State of Israel has decided not to exercise his prerogative to pardon the offender or reduce the sentence in the case of Adolf Eichmann."

DECISIVE ROLE

Eichmann, former head of the Gestapo's department for Jewish affairs, was sentenced to death for playing "a central and decisive part" in the planning and implementation of the Nazi program to exterminate European Jews.

Israel's Supreme Court, in rejecting his appeal, described him as a "fanatical enthusiast" and spoke of his "insatiable blood-thirstiness" in carrying out "these unspeakably horrible crimes to his own gratification and satisfaction of his superiors."

Adolf Eichmann was tight-lipped when court found him guilty.

Coffee In Cup Up To 15c

Price of a cup of coffee will go up from a dime to 15 cents today in a number of downtown Victoria restaurants.

It is the first major increase here since the days of the Second World War, when coffee went up to a dime.

A number of restaurants here will continue to sell coffee at 10 cents. It was reported last night. It will be up to the coffee drinkers to find out which establishments have the new prices in effect.

Mediator Fails To Resolve Forest Issues

6,000-Year-Old Village Uncovered by Scientists

QUIMPER, France (UPI) — Scientists here claimed yesterday they have excavated a village covered by the sea 2,500 years before the birth of Christ. Measurements of radioactivity of wood fragments showed that a village stood on the spot some 6,000 years ago.

Some 26,000 B.C. coast lumber workers will vote by secret ballot in the next few days on a proposal for a 16-cent-an-hour wage increase spread over two years.

It was part of the settlement recommended by Dr. Neil G. Perry, dean of the UBC commerce faculty, which was made public yesterday.

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson also disclosed at a press conference in Victoria that Dr. Perry failed to bring about settlement between Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., representing 150 employers, and the International Woodworkers of America.

BEFORE EXPIRY

Dr. Perry was appointed mediator to try for settlement before June 14 contract expiry.

The next move, said Mr. Peterson, is for both parties to consider Dr. Perry's recommendations. The minister said he was advised neither group would have any immediate comment to make.

"I would say this," said Mr. Peterson, "Dr. Perry is an outstanding person, able and well qualified, who has put a great deal of research and study into the dispute which exists within our major industry."

MERITS CONSIDERATION
"I am confident his report merits serious consideration by both parties."

Mr. Peterson refused to comment on the likelihood of a strike in the lumber industry.

Union officials, however, this week counselled the 26,000 IWA members in the coastal region of B.C. to prepare for a strike. A spokesman said: "There is only one sensible thing to do—work for the best and prepare for the worst."

The companies must also either accept or reject the recommendations.

NO SETTLEMENT

Dr. Perry said in his report dated May 30 he held a series of discussions with both parties, but now had to report regretfully that it has not been possible to effect a settlement.

The mediator recommended a new two-year contract with an additional eight cents an hour across the board effective June 15 this year and a further eight-cent increase starting June 15, 1963.

Other recommendations include additional paid holidays for employees with more than 15 years' service and pay at the standard rate of $2 an hour.

'I Had to Obey ... I Am Ready'

By AYRE WALLENSTEIN

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters) — I watched Adolf Eichmann hang. He dropped through the gallows trapdoor to his death just before midnight.

Eichmann was calm, self-possessed and defiant to the end.

Just before the noose was put around his neck, he said: "Long live Germany, long live Argentina, long live Austria. ... I had to obey the laws of the war and my flag."

"I am ready."

He then looked at us journalists facing him from a distance of a yard or so away, and with a ghostly smile on his lips, he said:

"After a short while, gentlemen, we shall meet again—so is the fate of all men. I have been believing in God all my life, and I die a believer in God."

The gallows were in a small room—only 3½ by four yards in size—at Ramleh Prison near here, which was surrounded by a cordon of security men.

Eichmann's last minutes were marked by neither remorse nor repentance.

In a cloak-and-dagger operation, I was taken Thursday night from a house in Tel Aviv to the police station at Ramleh from where, about an hour later, I was escorted to the heavily guarded prison compound surrounded by a double perimeter of barbed wire.

A police car blocked the road about a mile from the prison, and a heavy spiked chain roadblock had to be removed to let us pass.

Only a few yards from the prison gates, an armored car manned by Israeli border police again blocked our way.

Gates Clank Shut

The locked gates successively opened and clanged shut behind me as I walked into the prison building.

Minutes later, as I sat in a small room adjoining the improvised gallows chamber, I was told by the prison warden, Shmuel Yagor: "In five minutes the condemned man will be walking into the room next door."

Three minutes later I heard in the corridor outside a firm voice barking "Forward march" in Hebrew.

The Canadian evangelist missionary, Rev. William Hull, appeared in the corridor and right behind him I saw Adolf Eichmann, flanked by two guards to whom he was manacled.

Eichmann looked no different

Refuses the Hood

When a guard holding a black hood in his hands asked Eichmann, "Do you want it?" he answered "I don't want it."

He then turned to the reporters facing him and said: "Long live Germany, long live Argentina, long live Austria. These are the three countries with which I have been linked most, and which I shall never forget. 'I greet my wife, my family and my friends.'"

"I had to obey the law of the war and my flag."

"I am ready."

Eichmann's face was ashen, but I could detect a defiant expression on it as he spoke to us his very last words in German.

He said he was a "Gottesgläubiger"—a believer in God—which was the Nazi expression for Christians who had left the church under the directives of the party, but still professed to believe in God.

I glanced at my watch: It registered two minutes after midnight, when a voice boomed out in Hebrew: "Mokham" (ready).

The noose was in position. I had time to glance at Eichmann's face for the last time.

His eyes were half shut, head turned slightly to the left, his glance fixed on the floor.

A second "mukham" was heard, and I was aware of some movement from behind a curtain on my right.

Prairie Doctors Sell Up

SASKATOON (CP)—Dr. M. G. Kunkel, president of a company of 50 doctor-shareholders in Saskatchewan's Medical Arts Building, announced Thursday that the building is for sale.

He said the decision was reached Wednesday night at a meeting at which members expressed the view that the provincial government was "not showing any signs of considering the health needs of the people of Saskatchewan and will go ahead with its plans to fold the medical care plan on the province."

In Regina, Dr. H. A. Brown, chairman of the board of the Medical Arts Clinic, said sale of the newly renovated and expanded Medical Arts Building is under consideration. A real estate agency said sale of the medical and dental building, owned by doctors and dentists, is also being considered.

Restrict Canadian Wood Northwest Urges JFK

WASHINGTON (CP) — Congressman Walter Norblad urged President Kennedy yesterday to place immediate import restrictions on Canadian softwood lumber.

The Oregon Republican sent a letter to Kennedy saying that the U.S. industry, facing stiff competition from Canadian exporters, is "in serious peril unless you immediately order stop-gap relief."

Norblad called for an import quota limiting shipments from Canada to 10 per cent of the total U.S. softwoods market.

Canada last year had about 13 per cent of that market, with shipments valued at some $200,000,000 for the year.

Pearson Pledges 'Brain Trust' To Solve Crises

VANCOUVER (CP)—Liberal Leader Pearson was given a warm reception, sprinkled with some interruptions but most of them friendly, when he declared Thursday night the first thing he will do if elected is appoint a task force of brains to solve current difficulties.

The Liberal leader spoke in the posh Queen Elizabeth Auditorium, and there were no demonstrations or placard bearers inside other than those sponsored by the Liberal party.

Outside a group of about 25 pickets paraded with placards similar to some of those used at Prime Minister Diefenbaker's meeting in the big old Vancouver Forum.

DISTURBED
Mr. Pearson said he was disturbed at the demonstration which prevented a proper hearing for Mr. Diefenbaker Wednesday night.

The Liberal leader ended his address with a pitch for sincerity in politics, almost identical with one he delivered two nights ago in Edmonton.

WILD PICK BRAINS
The interruptions Thursday were similar in number and nature to those Mr. Pearson met in Edmonton, but again many of them were inaudible at the front of the big modern theatre with its sound-absorbing acoustics.

Mr. Pearson said if he is elected prime minister June 18—as he confidently predicts—he will call on the best brains of management, labor and farm organizations to form a task force to tackle what he called "the mess" the Conservatives have created.

"How are you going to do it?" he asked.

Hillcrest Dispute Finally Settled

Settlement of the six-month-old Hillcrest Lumber Co. strike deadlock was announced yesterday by Labor Minister Leslie Peterson.

He said under terms of the settlement company buses will resume taking Duncan and Lake Cowichan loggers to work at Mesachie Lake.

The dispute, which idled 120 men and threatened to throw another 200 out of work June 15 when the Hillcrest mill at Mesachie Lake would have been forced to close down for lack of logs, started Jan. 2.

BUS DISCONTINUED

Cause of the dispute was discontinuance of free company bus service between Duncan and its Mesachie Lake operation.

Mr. Peterson praised the efforts of deputy labor minister William Sands who acted as mediator in the final talks which led to settlement.

Jack Moore, regional president of the International Woodworkers of America, will present the settlement terms to Hillcrest loggers at a meeting scheduled for tonight. He will recommend its acceptance, an IWA spokesman said last night.

AGREED TO SETTLEMENT
Mr. Peterson said spokesmen for both parties have agreed to a settlement which puts the company buses back on the road starting Monday.

The agreement is to remain in effect until Sept. 30.

Meanwhile, a committee composed of two representatives of the employers and two of the union, with a chairman to be appointed by the government, is to be empowered to investigate all aspects of the case. It will be given the job of recommending a permanent solution.

The dispute started Jan. 2 when 70 loggers refused to provide their own transportation in trucks after the company's free bus service was discontinued. The men went on to report daily to the bus picket spots.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

There is a danger that Victoria will have too many tourists in 1962.

The town is already thronged with visitors spilling over from Seattle world's fair. After school is out, there will be thousands more each day.

The hotel and motel men have joined forces in a group called Expo-Lodging, which promises to find beds for everyone—even if some people have to sleep in the attic.

Crowds are bearable if they have a purpose. At the opening of the Swiftsure race, there was a feeling of excitement among the throngs who surged along the Causeway and peered at the yachts.

But being caught in a bored, aimless crowd is torture. Crowding—of pedestrian lanes and streets—is already moving toward the point of discomfort. Traffic on Government Street is tangled and sluggish for much of the day.

There is one step that should be taken at once for the comfort of tourists and natives alike: Unsanitary Government Street, forbid left turns, synchronize the traffic lights.

Names in the News

Rich American 'Does Anything'

WINNIPEG—A man who described himself as a New York millionaire was fined $100 and costs here after being held in jail for 36 hours on a charge of supplying liquor to a minor.

The man, identified by police as Paul Peers, was arrested in a downtown hotel room. With him at the time of his arrest was a 19-year-old girl who was under the influence of liquor.

Police said Peers became indignant at the arrest, declaring he would "use the police force for invasion of privacy."

"I am an American millionaire and I can do anything with Canadian law," he said.

LONDON—Mrs. Grace Jones sued her husband Cecil for divorce on the ground he rearranged the furniture in her absence to give his chair the best angle on the television set. This, she said, was rivalry. The judge disagreed and dismissed her petition.

Shingles Can Afflict Children In Milder, Less Painful Doses

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: My three-year-old granddaughter recently had shingles. I never heard of it occurring in a child before. Is there anything we can do to correct the cause? She responded well to treatment.—MRS. K. C.

Shingles can occasionally occur in children. The cause is the same as in adults. It is a virus similar to chickenpox. The vesicles or spots follow the course of a nerve instead of being scattered indiscriminately as in chickenpox.

Fortunately, shingles is much milder and less painful in children. One attack usually provides immunity.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have read a great deal about the effect of radioactive fallout on milk. Why do milk singed out? Is it more responsive to radiation than other foods?—D. C.

One very good reason is its universality. We can (and do) test milk constantly in all regions of the country. It is a product that is fresh daily. We can take samples under identical conditions, at points thousands of miles apart, and thus get a comparison. No milk is not more sensitive to radiation. It's just an excellent gauge for us to use.

MRS. EICHMANN
... 'take it calmly'

Eichmann

The square, black-painted trap-door under Eichmann's feet snapped down, the rope became taut, and Eichmann dropped into the dark pit under the scaffold.

I approached the trap-door and looked down. Eichmann's body was hanging with almost no swing. Later the prison doctor said death was instantaneous.

Eichmann was told by Prison Commissioner A. N. N. about four hours before his execution. He said he was not surprised that the president would not exercise his prerogative to commute the death sentence.

His only reaction, according to N. N., was a clipped "jawohl" (all right).

RECEIVED CALMLY

I had the impression that Eichmann received the news calmly and in a resigned manner. Eichmann was not told at the time when the execution would take place, the commissioner added.

The condemned man merely asked for a bottle of wine of which he drank half.

His last meal, which he ate five hours before his execution, included bread, olives and tea—the usual prison supper, guards said.

One of Eichmann's last requests was for permission to read two letters from his family which he was told had arrived for him during the day.

Only a few minutes before midnight, he was led out of his death cell, to walk the 50 yards to the gallows chamber.

He had to climb only one step to this last walk, from one wing of the prison to another, along a corridor lined by empty cells.

Because the prison clock was slow, the official announcement that the execution had taken place at 11:38 p.m. was incorrect.

Rite Is Dead—Aw, Shoot!

HARBOR GRACE, Nfld. (CP)—The big sailing ship, returning home from the northern front of the Labrador coast, no longer sail into this old Conception Bay harbor.

As a result, a colorful little ceremony out of the past has disappeared.

More than 100 years ago, as the ships sailed into port, the captain would order, "shoot the cathedral," as he passed the big Roman Catholic cathedral. The salute would ring out.

And the final order, as the ship approached her berth and the captain passed his own home, would be, "shoot my wife."

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 19 years old, five feet seven inches tall and weigh 156 pounds. I am flat-chested, which my mother attributes to constantly sleeping on my stomach. She suggests hormone shots or pills. What is your opinion?—BARR N.

Your weight is about right for height and age—and if your bust develops in the future, it won't be the first time this has happened. Feminine figures vary greatly. Sleeping on your stomach certainly has nothing to do with it. Unless some proved deficiency in health or abnormality of menstrual cycle is present, stay away from hormones.

attributed to rising costs of coffee, cream or sugar.

It was named as the only commodity which can be increased in the face of spiralling operating costs by restaurant owners trying to hold the line on current meal prices.

Paul's Sussex Restaurant, Drive-In and Crown House restaurants on Douglas Street will be among the group selling 15-cent coffee today.

MEET DEMAND

Paul Arsena, president of the firm, said devaluation of the Canadian dollar followed by greater American demand for Canadian meat ranging all the way from beef to crab meat, has boosted the local prices.

Imported American foodstuffs also cost more because of the devaluation, he said.

"We're trying to hold the line on meal prices. If we didn't (raise coffee price) we'd have to raise the price of the meals," said Mr. Arsena.

FREE CUP

On the other hand, a customer who orders a meal and used to pay a dime for a cup of coffee and 20 cents for two, will now be charged 15 cents for the first cup and get the second cup free, said Mr. Arsena.

Stanley Booker, president of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Restaurant Association, said he approves of the increase although it did not come about through the association.

"a voice called from the audience."

Mr. Pearson said that how the Liberals would do it was spelled out in the party's printed platform, from which he read points including the establishment of a Maritime loan fund, expansion of the industrial development in areas of chronic unemployment.

There were running interruptions of "don't forget it when you get in," "that's what Diefenbaker said," and "same thing as the present government," Mr. Pearson ignored these comments.

Mr. Pearson said he was confident management, labor, and farm organizations would willingly help a new Liberal government with the problems of the day as they did during the Second World War.

"I shall ask them to join with us in putting the Liberal policies for economic recovery into prompt and effective action. I believe we can bring back confidence and order into the nation's business. I think we will prove that we can do the job."

"If a new Liberal government does not succeed—if we do not get rid of chronic unemployment, if Canada does not move forward, then I will be the first to say that our government will have failed and that I should turn the job over to someone else."

Supernova Could Kill World Communications

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UPI)—A vast explosion in space that knocked out worldwide communications might lead either the United States or Russia to think the other side was starting a nuclear war.

Yet such an explosion could be entirely natural, a British scientist said yesterday.

E. M. Cade, a former scientific officer at the British Admiralty and a radar expert, said such a global blackout could be due to the explosion of a supernova (a giant star) somewhere in our own galaxy.

MIGHT BE OVERDUE
Such a fantastic explosion might happen at any time, Cade said, and might even be said to be "overdue."

"Records kept by the Chinese and going back 2,500 years show that we can expect a supernova on the average of once every 150 years in our galaxy," he said. "Yet there has not been one now for 250 years."

One of the main objectives of the present American series of nuclear tests the detonation of a so-called "rainbow bomb," is an attempt to see if an enemy, by exploding a hydrogen bomb in the atmosphere, could knock out the electronic defenses of the free world.

WIPE OUT TV

Cade believes a supernova moderately "close" to earth would wipe out television programs completely, perhaps for a year and seriously affect, if not render useless, civil radar with consequent disruption of the airport control, storm warning and navigation services that depend on it.

Cade believes the free world should protect its communications by putting as many as possible underground and by investigating which wave lengths do not penetrate the ionosphere (the electrified layer around the earth) and switch our communications to those.

"We had an inkling of how solar and stellar events could affect our communications during the war," Cade said.

"Early in 1942 our early warning radar chain was jammed and we thought the Germans had discovered how to knock it out while they mounted an invasion. It was found the interference coincided with a sunspot."

Again in 1944, the British were thwarted, he said, in their efforts to locate the German V-2 rockets by long-range radar because of more mysterious interference — eventually tracked down to radiation from the constellation of Sagittarius.

Republic Status For Tanganyika

LONDON (Reuters)—C. S. K. Tumbo, Tanganyika's high commissioner here, said yesterday his East African country will become a republic by the end of this year.

He added at a press conference: "Tanganyika has neither cause nor intention to leave the Commonwealth, a family of nations in which Tanganyika has pledged herself to continue her association as a faithful partner."

In Tanganyika's capital, Dar es Salaam, it was announced the country will become a republic within the Commonwealth Dec. 9, exactly one year after it achieved independence.

Court Chains, Gags Narcotics Suspects

NEW YORK (AP)—Two Brooklyn brothers on trial in federal court with 12 others for narcotics conspiracy were ordered gagged and shackled Thursday by Judge Lloyd F. MacMahon because of outbursts during the proceedings. Salvatore Panico, 37, shouted incoherent remarks and was warned by the court to desist. Judge MacMahon ordered him seated, add tape and gauze were firmly applied to his mouth. His feet were shackled to his chair. His brother, Carmine, 40, then rose from his chair and said: "You'd better do me, too." The marshals obliged.

High-Altitude A-Blast At Midnight

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States will conduct the first of a series of high-altitude nuclear tests in the Pacific at midnight PDT tonight, launching off spectacular fireworks expected to be seen thousands of miles away.

The experiment is designed to help scientists study effects of the blast on the earth's magnetic field and the Van Allen radiation belts surrounding the planet. The effect on communications will be noted especially.

Vanishing Terror Fuels Rumors Of Secret Talks

ALGIERS (AP)—The European Secret Army Organization halted terrorism in the heart of Algiers Thursday in an apparent effort to back reports of undercover contacts with Moslem nationalists.

For the first time in months, not a single shot was fired in the city proper and in most of its sprawling suburbs.

Not a single ambulance siren screamed as crowds of strollers crowded the streets during the Roman Catholic Ascension holiday.

MACHINE-GUNNING

But in the hilltop suburb of El Biar, one Moslem was killed and one was wounded by machine-gun fire from a speeding car. And in the village of Guy-oville, 11 miles west of the city, one Moslem was killed and one was wounded.

A school in the Lavignerie section of Maison Carree was blown up with 20 pounds of explosives.

FIVE DIE IN ORAN

In the Oran region in western Algeria, five persons—three Moslems and two Europeans—were slain in isolated attacks. This was an unusually low toll for the Oran sector.

It was one of the quietest days in Algeria since last fall, when the Secret Army stepped up its campaign of terror to oppose Algeria's independence.

Food Rush

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet government yesterday was reported preparing to make sharp increases on meat and butter today. The reports sent housewives rushing to Moscow's food stores.

The price rise is believed directly linked to the recent troubles in the Soviet agricultural system. Premier Khrushchev admitted shortages of meat and milk last March when the Communist party central committee discussed farm failures.

Atom-Controlled Digger Going Into U.K. Mines

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain soon will have two fully-automatic mechanical coal miners remotely controlled by a nuclear device, according to Lord Robens, chairman of the National Coal Board. One will specialize in getting coal from narrow seams, the other from broad seams. No men will be required at the coal face.

Report on Brussels Progress

'It's a Sellout' Greets Heath

LONDON (Reuters)—Edward Heath, Britain's deputy foreign secretary and chief Common Market negotiator, told the House of Commons yesterday that any agreements reached on the solution of industrial elements remains subject to overall agreement.

Reporting on the latest round of talks which ended Wednesday in Brussels, he said momentum was maintained both in the meetings of the deputies of ministers and in the ministerial meeting which produced agreement on the tariff treatment to be applied to Britain's imports in Brussels.

of industrial products from Canada, Australia and New Zealand. He reminded that Britain from the outset has recognized that indefinite and unlimited continuation of free entry in this field might not be regarded as compatible with the development of the Common Market. A member "bought" "it's a sellout" as Heath explained element on the tariff treatment to be applied to Britain's imports in Brussels.

Red Deal Sentence Upheld

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The U.S. Court of Appeals yesterday upheld the conviction of a Chinese man and his two sons on charges of trading with Communist China.

Joe Quong and his sons, Joe Wing Fong and Joe Wing Wah, were convicted two years ago. Testimony showed they received 62 tons of herbal remedies from the China mainland by way of Vancouver, B.C.

The drugs were smuggled into this country at Detroit and Niagara Falls in trucks with hidden compartments. The father and sons operated an import firm at Vancouver and a tea and dried vegetable firm in Memphis and another firm in Chicago.

Each was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

'Jobless Attacked'

Tories Blamed
For Starting
Big Rally Row

VANCOUVER (CP)—The chairman of the Vancouver and District Unemployed Council asserted Thursday that Conservatives started the fights and skirmishes that broke out Wednesday night during Prime Minister Diefenbaker's rally.

Reception
Pleased
John D

RED DEER (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Thursday night he will always remember with gratitude the reception 8,000 persons gave him Wednesday night in the Vancouver Forum at the conclusion of his speech.

He described the audience as "tremendous" and said there were also 150 persons there with the purpose of doing everything they could to keep him from being heard.

Near-Riot
Bad Deal
—Pearson

VANCOUVER (CP)—Liberal Leader Pearson Thursday described Prime Minister Diefenbaker's reception here Wednesday night as "a bad deal—not representative of Vancouver."

The Liberal leader said any prime minister or national party leader deserved a fair hearing, and blamed the rowdy scene in Vancouver's big forum on an organized obstruction.

He spoke of the reception given Mr. Diefenbaker both at a gathering of about 250 workers in North Vancouver and while chatting with lawn bowlers at a club in west Vancouver. "All fair-minded Canadians—and 99 out of 100 of them are fair-minded, whatever their politics may be—must regret that the prime minister is not given the kind of hearing that any prime minister or any leader of a national party is entitled to," he said at the public meeting.

That Prestige Issue

Two Clash on TV

OTTAWA (UPI)—External Affairs Minister Howard Green and former Liberal health minister Paul Martin took differing views on the issue of Canada's prestige abroad when they appeared on separate television broadcasts.

Green said Liberal charges that Canada's prestige was declining among other nations was picked "holus bolus" from President Kennedy's 1960 campaign against the Republicans. Martin said the government

"whines and argues with our best friends" and said full employment would do more for the economy and Canada's reputation abroad than anything.

They appeared in back-to-back 15-minute shows over the CBC and for the first time during this campaign neither party used its leader on the free-time telecasts.

The Liberals never mentioned Kennedy's prestige until the election appeared on the horizon, Green said. He Charges that an American company is hampering the Canadian election campaign were hurled yesterday by Comox MLA Dan Campbell, who is campaign manager for Jack Finnerty, federal Social Credit candidate in Comox-Alberni riding.

Mr. Campbell and Mr. Finnerty were refused entry over the Elk River Timber Co. and Tahsis Company logging roads to Gold River when they sought entry to campaign in the Tahsis-Nootka Sound-Gold River area.

Mr. Campbell appealed directly to Scott Paper Co.,

which controls Elk River Timber and to E. R. Sheldon, president of Elk River Timber, with offices at Everett, Wash. "This is an insult. What they have done effectively cuts off at least 2,000 people," Mr. Campbell complained.

"It is a ridiculous imposition by an American company on the Canadian election scene," he charged.

Both Tahsis and Elk River companies are foreign controlled, but between them they control the only road access to the Nootka Sound area of Vancouver Island's west coast. They steadfastly refuse access over their private road, despite repeated provincial government appeals for some kind of public access arrangement. The Social Credit campaigners were finally offered transportation in company vehicles, but said that would not be acceptable because of the amount of campaign literature they planned to take with them, and because it would place too much limitation on their time schedule.

GEORGE CHATTERTON ... denies statement

All-Party Meeting

Nothing But Smear
Tory Thunders Out

Charges of "smear" were hurled by Esquimalt-Saanich Progressive Conservative candidate George Chatterton at an Esquimalt-Saanich all-candidate meeting at Cobble Hill last night.

His outburst came during the question period at the lively meeting sponsored by the South Cowichan Taxpayers Association, which brought out about 100 people. Mr. Chatterton was questioned by a Liberal supporter on a statement attributed to him to the effect there is no unemployment problem in the Esquimalt-Saanich riding.

DENIES STATEMENT "I categorically deny that I made that statement," replied Mr. Chatterton.

"You made it at a meeting the other night ... at Mari-gold Hall," persisted his questioner, a party worker with the Liberals.

"WERE YOU THERE?" "How do you know ... were you there?" shouted a Conservative party worker. "These are smear tactics ... attributing statements to me that I never made ... nothing but smear," returned Mr. Chatterton.

BRISK HECKLING Brisk heckling highlighted the meeting, with Social Credit candidate Reg Pring drawing the lion's share.

Earlier, he had decried the near riot—"that rumpus in Vancouver"—which broke up Prime Minister Diefenbaker's speech in that city.

DECENT HEARING "Everyone agrees that the prime minister of this country is entitled to a decent hearing, just as every man is entitled to a decent hearing," said Mr. Pring.

CROWD JEERED The crowd jeered when Mr. Pring said the system of increasing pensions and various other social assistance payments—he termed them "bigger and larger handouts"—was leading the country deeper into debt.

"BIGGEST RECESSION" "If we tried to stop it ... we would have the biggest darn recession this country ever saw ... we have a tiger by the tail and our only hope is to shoot the beast."

"I hope you don't mean the old-age pensioners," a heckler sang out.

NDP candidate Geoffrey Mitchell said Canada lacked the leadership and sense of purpose needed to effectively end the unemployment problem.

He won applause when he said NDP policy was "not the result of a Gallup poll ... not thought out as a popularity contest. Our policy is established at conventions held every two years."

Mr. Chatterton defended government policy and won the heartiest applause when he told the audience "Things are much better now ... the economy is buoyant ... it gives us a chance to finish the job."

LOWER TARIFFS Liberal candidate David Groos said lower tariffs and increased world trade, with emphasis on trade with the European Common Market, was the Liberal plan to reduce unemployment.

NDP Move
'Not Democratic'

TORONTO (CP)—The Communist Party of Canada said Thursday the Ontario New Democratic Party's move to obtain a court injunction prohibiting Communist support of NDP candidates in the federal election is undemocratic.

Leslie Morris, national leader of the Communist Party and candidate in Toronto Eglington, said the injunction is labor's old legal enemy and voters would be shocked if the NDP resorted to it.

150 at Airport

Cool Hello Greet
Mike in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Liberal Leader Pearson was given an undemonstrative reception in Vancouver when he arrived today to address an election rally 24 hours after Prime Minister Diefenbaker's noisy and quarrelsome meeting.

Mr. Pearson flew in from Prince George, stopping for half an hour at Abbotsford in the Fraser Valley, and was greeted at Vancouver's International Airport by a crowd of about 150 party workers waving Liberal banners.

There were no demonstrations by other groups, either at the airport or along a parade route downtown. Mr. Pearson was led into town by a long ragged parade of automobiles and trucks carrying Highland Pipe bands, but there were few people on the sidewalks.

People in the downtown section of the city either went on about their business or stood looking at the procession with only a few handwaves or shouts of support.

Mr. Pearson speaks at a rally here tonight.

Rights Bill Worthless
Douglas Tells 400

DAUPHIN, Man. (CP)—T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party Thursday told a crowd of 400 farmers here the Canadian Bill of Rights "isn't worth the paper it is written on."

He also said the Indian Act "should be thrown in the ash can and we can start over from there."

Mr. Douglas was answering a question as to what action an NDP government would take on behalf of reserve Indians. The question was put by an Indian from the Rolling River Reserve who said Indians who wish to lease land off a reserve must surrender their rights on the reserve.

"It's that word surrender, I don't like," the man said.

DIRECT RESULT Mr. Douglas was speaking in support of Fred Zaplinton, NDP candidate in Dauphin riding in the June 18 election.

He said "The richness and vitality of Canadian life is a direct result of the variety of ethnic groups that together make up the Canadian population."

SHOULD HAVE SAME He said Indians should have the same rights as all other Canadians, adding that he thought the Indian Act "paternal" with the great white father telling the Indians how to run their affairs.

EARLY ASSEMBLY England's first parliament was an assembly of four knights from each county called together in 1264.

Grits to 'Tidy'
Power Mess

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Coast-Capilano Liberal candidate John Davis says the Columbia River mess could be tidied up by a Liberal government.

Mr. Davis said at a rally the Liberals could get construction going on the Columbia within a year on the best terms possible for Canada.

Only Cadillac Buyers
Hurt by Dollar—Hees

VANCOUVER (CP)—Trade Minister Hees said Thursday that people who buy Cadillacs, New York dresses and Georgia melons are the only consumers who will be hurt by devaluation of the Canadian dollar.

Political Bias
Would End
—Thompson

PENTICTON (CP)—Robert Thompson, national Social Credit leader, said Thursday all judicial appointments in Canada now are "made by politics" and reiterated that Social Credit would change this.

Speaking to reporters at Penticton airport, Mr. Thompson defended a statement he made recently in Brandon, Man., to the effect that if the Social Credit party is elected "political bias" in judicial appointments will be ended.

"I merely suggested that a non-partisan committee be set up to make these appointments," he said.

Asked who would make up such a committee, the party leader said policy on this matter has not completely been spelled out.

The Progressive Conservative cabinet minister said at a press conference: "Certainly the price of some things will go up. But we Canadians should eat more Canadian food and buy more Canadian articles."

"I've never driven anything but a Canadian car. Buying an American car or a foreign-made car is just a matter of prestige or awank because it upstages the lady next door."

He said.

Air and Space Ministry
Hinted by Diefenbaker

VANCOUVER (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Thursday the time has come for Canada to consider a separate ministry of air and space.

The prime minister said he has given considerable study to the matter and if Canada was to continue to be in the forefront of aviation "then indeed this is one step that will have to be taken."

He said he was sure that such a ministry "would be considered at the next session of parliament."

Mr. Diefenbaker did not elaborate on what he meant by such a ministry but presumably it would be a cabinet post embracing air transport and any space projects Canada might undertake.

The prime minister was speaking to about 800 employees of Canadian Pacific Airlines in one of the line's big hangars at Vancouver International Airport.

Block Buying Sets Style At New York

NEW YORK (AP) — In another historic session which ranked with the hectic days of 1929, the stock market staged a sharp advance.

The market roared ahead at the start when blue chip issues carved out gains of several points.

American Telephone, most widely held stock of all, leaped 6 1/2 to 115 on an initial block of 100,000 shares, one of the biggest transactions in stock market annals. Du Pont gained 7 1/2 at the opening, and so went to a greater or less extent in many outstanding issues.

Almost from the start, however, traders began to take quick profits on the huge recovery which began about noon on Tuesday.

The most encouraging thing to Wall Street analysts was that the rash of profit-taking failed to trip up the advance and cause a snowballing of sell orders.

The ticker tape was one hour and 46 minutes behind transactions when the final bell sounded.

Key Stocks Fall

MONTREAL (CP) — Profit-taking gave stocks a pounding although the decline lacked the all-out severity of the sell-off experienced Monday and Tuesday morning.

Losses of a point and more were common among key issues. Du Pont fell three points to 27. Algonquin Steel fell two points to 45. International Nickel fell 1 1/2 to 68. Royal Bank fell 1 1/2 to 18. Macmillan fell 1 1/2 to 18. Moore fell 1 1/2 to 50.

Off a point was Imperial Oil at 44.

Among base metals, Hudson Bay Mining fell 1/2 to 34 1/2 and Aluminum lost 1/2 to 24 1/2.

Trend Ignored

TORONTO (CP) — Another selling wave pounded the stock market, driving industrial shares down more than 11 index points.

In the main list, Alberta Gas, Algonquin Steel, Walker - Goodenham and Price Brothers all dropped a point or more, while Moore Corporation declined 1 1/2. Dominion Foundries and Steel fell 1 1/2 to 18. Atlas Steel one point and Bell Telephone 1/2.

Banks faltered.

International Minerals and Chemicals ignored the general downward trend, climbing 5 1/2 to 44.

International Nickel was weakest among base metals, falling 3 1/2 to 68.

Western oils saw Home Petroleum, Calgary and Edmonton 1/2. Home A and Pacific Petroleum 1/2.

Mines Punished

VANCOUVER — Low price mining stocks continued to be hit with Kamloops down to 13, Friday to 16. New Indian to 13, and Dolly Varden to 45. McKinney was 55.

Industrials were also easier with Macmillan at 18 1/2 and Trans Mountain at 14 1/2.

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL (CP) — Bond prices were unchanged in unusually quiet trading.

Ontario Plans Fourteenth University

TORONTO (UPI) — Ontario Premier John Robarts said yesterday plans have been approved for the establishment of a university at Peterborough by 1964.

The university, the 14th in the province, will be known as Trent University and will have an initial enrolment of 100 students. It is expected to have a student population of about 1,000 by 1974.

Although the Peterborough board of education will provide the buildings when the university opens, plans call for the construction of a library and residence by 1967.

Who Bought Shares?

By HARRY YOUNG
Columnist Business Editor

When the selling wave reached its peak on the New York stock exchange Tuesday morning, thousands of shares owned by the little people were being put on the block and sacrificed at the best price available.

It was then that the big buyers came on the scene. Who were they? Paul Getty, the American oil magnate, reputed to be the wealthiest man in the world, admits he bought between 40,000 and 50,000 oil shares of various companies, and would have bought more if he could have got them at the same price.

The managers of various public investment funds were also among the bargain hunters. Canadian Investment Fund, Canada's original fund of this type, reports that during Monday and Tuesday it invested $3,000,000 of accumulated cash in a share-buying spree.

One U.S. mutual fund is reported to have bought over $50,000,000 worth of stock while prices were low.

The lesson to the investor is not new one. The moral is to buy when the majority is selling and to sell when the masses are buying.

But how many individuals have either the self-control or the intestinal fortitude to do it?

TOOK COLD FEET
I heard, for instance, of one local private investment syndicate which took cold feet as Wall Street plunged on Monday and sold out its entire holding early Tuesday.

The profits accumulated through careful selection over the past two or three years were turned into a loss, with nothing left to show for it.

One might suppose that this is a good argument why the average investor should place his affairs in the hands of professional managers — such as those who run the mutuals.

BIG SHELL-OUT
Du Pont de Nemours has decided it will distribute 23,000,000 shares it owns in General Motors to its common shareholders July 9. Each du Pont shareholder will get one G.M. share for each two held in du Pont.

The distribution, part of a divestiture of 63,000,000 shares of G.M. ordered by the U.S. federal court, will have a market value of about $1,500,000,000. Further distributions will follow in the next three years.

CRAIGMONT'S PROFIT
Craigmont Mines net operating profit for the six months to April 30 was $4,761,673 (93 cents a share). Company's debt has been reduced by $2,040,000.

OPEN HEALTH PLAN
An open-to-all pre-paid medical-surgical plan is being offered in Ontario by the Canadian division of a leading U.S. insurance company.

Continental Casualty Co. announces it will open its plan to all Ontario citizens regardless of age and past or present health. It is in the form of a group plan and is said to be the first of its kind offered in Canada by a private company.

Enrolment is open only for a limited time. Newspaper advertisements will invite all readers to enrol during a 10 day period—June 2 to 12—by returning a coupon with one month's premium.

Premiums vary between $3.50 a month for a single person under 30 years to $13 a month a family with dependent children.

BANK RATE RISES
The Bank of Canada rediscount rate yesterday was 3.77 per cent, up .02 per cent from last Thursday's 3.75 per cent.

DEFICIT REDUCED
Canadian National Railways have reduced their net operating deficit for the first four months of 1962 to $4,338,000. In the corresponding period of 1961 the deficit was $14,059,000.

COLUMBIA EXPANDS
Columbia Cellulose is to spend $4,000,000 on its Prince Rupert pulp mill that will increase its annual production capacity by 25,000 tons to 160,000 tons.

Vanished Golfer Mystery Man To Testify At Hearing

EDMONTON (CP)—A mystery police informant will be the second witness today at the preliminary hearing of two Edmonton men charged with capital murder. Crown prosecutor William Shortreed said Thursday.

The preliminary hearing of Raymond Daniel Workman, 34, and William (Headball) Huculak, 29, charged in connection with the disappearance of city golf pro Frank Willey, was to go into its second day today.

HAD OVERHEARD
Mr. Shortreed said the mystery informant, whom police have refused to identify since the still unsuccessful search for Willey's body began five weeks ago, had overheard some significant conversations in connection with the case.

Willey disappeared April 19 when he left his home to deliver a set of clubs ordered by telephone. Police, acting on a tip from the mystery informant, began a search for Willey's body southeast of Edmonton. The search was continuing Thursday.

LARGE STAIN
Const. Edmund Raymont of the city police identification branch testified Thursday that on April 21 he took photographs in the living room of a house under construction in South Edmonton.

A large stain of what appeared to be blood could be seen on the floor.

IWA Man Made President
Murray Drew, first vice-president of the Victoria local of International Woodworkers of America, will take over the president's duties today.

He will replace John MacKenzie who has been appointed IWA district vice-president in Vancouver.

Suspended Motorist Fined $200
Magistrate William Ostler yesterday imposed a $200 fine on a motorist for driving while his licence was suspended.

Herbert Baird, 518 Sumas, pleaded guilty to the charge in Saanich police court.

His licence was suspended when he was convicted in March, 1961, of driving while his faculties were impaired by alcohol.

His previous convictions, dating back to 1952, included driving while intoxicated and speeding.

7 Reply to Cruelty Charges:

SPCA Can't Inoculate All Dogs

Victoria's Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has answered a charge that it is more cruel to animals than any rodeo.

Mrs. Fred Johansen, 831 Ellery, made the charge yesterday, saying she and her husband got a dog from the SPCA for their daughter, took it home and found it had distemper.

DIDN'T SAY
"They didn't tell us to take the dog to a veterinarian before we took it home," she said. "We found it wouldn't eat and when we took it to the vet it had a temperature of 104."

She said the SPCA should investigate its own procedures before complaining about cruelty at rodeos.

"I haven't pressed any formal charges. I just hope something will be done about it," she said.

POUND REPLY
In replying, David Beeching, secretary-manager of the SPCA pound here, said, "At the present time I have 21 dogs, four pups, seven cats and 18 kittens."

"Our money only comes from the Community Chest and from the operation of our pound."

"I couldn't begin to inoculate every dog coming in here," he said. "We do endeavor to keep our animals healthy and take sick animals to the vet for treatment."

The SPCA picks up injured animals from the streets and takes them to the vet paying for treatment where necessary, he said.

On the subject of rodeos Mr. Beeching stated the SPCA's attitude towards the Kinsmen rodeo to be held in the Memorial Arena tomorrow and Saturday.

NOT CONDONED
"The abuse of animals cannot be condoned even though the motives of the Kinsmen may be the best."

Horses must be made to buck by using straps that at the very least cause discomfort and sometimes injury, he said.

The big cowboy spur is used during the ride.

"Officials only want their stock ridden once each day. As each ride is only for eight seconds, it is obvious the officials consider any more than eight seconds is too hard for the horse to take," said Mr. Beeching.

Building Boom Soars in April

Victoria's construction activity from January through May was greater than any corresponding period since 1955.

Elsewhere in this area, construction was healthy in May and emphasis was on additions, improvements and dwellings in Esquimalt. Oak Bay building permit figures were not available yesterday.

The impressive five-month total for Victoria was the result of an all-time high in April when permits were issued for four apartment houses valued at $1,757,000.

Figures released yesterday showed 624 building permits issued by the city in May for a total value of $550,410. This included permits for a $63,500 TB clinic at Royal Jubilee Hospital and a $30,000 addition to the B.C. Forest Products plywood plant.

There were seven permits issued during the month for dwellings worth $83,300. City officials issued 2,581 permits worth $4,520,709 during the January-May period, including 42 permits for dwellings valued at $2,207,200.

545 PERMITS
In 1961, 545 permits worth $339,317 were issued in May, including seven dwellings worth $90,300, and 2,506 permits were issued during the first five months for a total value of $3,622,421, including 38 dwellings valued at $741,883.

Saanich issued 97 permits worth $627,327 in May, of which 36 were for dwellings worth $591,302. It brought the five-month total to 461 permits valued at $3,202,556.40, including 180 for dwellings worth $2,484,302.

SAANICH PERMITS
In 1961, Saanich issued 117 building permits worth $661,985 in May, including 44 for dwellings worth $591,500. The five-month total was 687 permits worth $3,856,453, including 191 for dwellings valued at $2,487,700.

Esquimalt issued 24 permits worth $145,080 in May this year, of which eight were for dwellings worth $116,500. The total to date is 85 permits worth $1,199,890, including 26 dwellings valued at $374,460.

18 IN MAY
In 1961, Esquimalt issued 18 permits worth $818,050 in May, including four for dwellings worth $55,700. There were 88 permits from January through May for a total value of $1,284,539, including 25 dwellings at $348,000.

Esquimalt building inspector William Edgington said dwellings are "going good this year and we're well ahead on overall building."

Although last month's figures seem well below those of May, 1961, it is because a permit was issued a year ago for the Salvation Army's $750,000 Mission Lodge on Dunsmuir, he said.

There have been no large projects this year but general construction is brisk, and people have been making a lot of improvements to their homes, said Mr. Edgington.

His wife, Micheline, and six children, ranging in age from one year to eight, all perished in the fire.

The jury returned a verdict of death by accidental fire.

Patterson and Liston Fight in September

CHICAGO (CP) — Champion $10 to $100 to watch their heavy-weight fight. Patterson will fight Sonny Liston Tuesday, Sept. 25, before Park.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tung

UNCHANGINGLY BAD: One can not expect exciting entertainment each time one attends a sports event but there is no gainsaying that there was nothing that happened at Memorial Arena Wednesday night which would give anyone in the crowd (arena figure) of 1,674 Inter-City Lacrosse League fans the slightest desire to watch another ICLL game.

That the Shamrocks were playing what was said to be their poorest game of the season against a club quite willing to keep things moving at a snail's pace is only part of the story. These kind of games happen from time to time, but there is no need to add to the annals of bad enforcement of bad rules.

If Wednesday night's officiating is a sample of what it has been this season, then the ICLL has made no progress at all in its effort (?) to provide each game with two capable referees. It's as bad as it has always been and as it always has been, inconsistent refereeing makes bad games so obviously worse.

But the referees shouldn't shoulder all the blame. They are asked to enforce rules which are not only old but tend to a game which needs constant action if it is to make new fans, or even hold the old ones.

Rules which permit glaring stalling tactics should have been revamped long ago. On Wednesday, in one glaring example, a Victoria player was cross-checked and blocked out of play trying for a loose ball. While the penalty was called, Vancouver was permitted possession. Perhaps this was just a referee's error, but what followed was sheer travesty, to say nothing of boring.

Four times, at least Vancouver players passed the ball back to their goalkeeper, at least once almost the whole length of the floor. When one of the referees called them for stalling, the ball was faced off as per the rule. Vancouver got the draw, and it started all over. Victoria never once got possession during the two minutes, and the fans might as well have gone out for a coffee. Shamrocks did the same thing earlier in the game, not quite so successfully but successfully enough to make a dull game duller for a minute or more, again at a time when it should have been most interesting.

If this is considered as clever game strategy, it isn't clever as regards promotion of the game. It would make far more sense if a team drawing a penalty was further penalized by losing the ball if they were in possession at the time, was never permitted to pass back to its goalkeeper or even pass back into its own zone once it was forced into the other half of the floor.

Lacrosse might also seriously consider making it mandatory for a club to shoot within 60 seconds of the time it gains possession, as is the case now only in the last five minutes. What lacrosse needs is more action and less of the walking around becoming more and more prevalent. But the people who run lacrosse seem intent on carrying on the way they have always carried on — a road which could be leading to oblivion.

NO BIAS HERE: Just who makes the decisions on awarding individual trophies in the Pacific Coast Soccer League is something I don't know but he or they must live in Vancouver.

The Austin Delany Trophy for the most valuable player was given to Ken Pears, goalkeeper for Firefighters, and the Ed Bayley Trophy for the rookie of the season went to Dick Crompton, a forward for St. Andrews, a club which managed only 10 points out of 24 games.

Pears is an outstanding goalkeeper and his club did win the league championship so there can be no serious quarrel there if it was true that at least some consideration was given Barry Sadler and Geoff Hill for their contributions to the unexpectedly fine showing of Victoria United.

This, however, has to be doubted in view of the awarding of the Bayley Trophy to Crompton.

Crompton is a promising youngster but his last-place club, St. Andrews, managed only 10 points from 24 league matches and his effort of five goals is somewhat insignificant when compared to Sadler's accomplishments — 13 shots and only 18 goals against in 24 matches.

Even granting that United did not play well in Vancouver, although the club's 31 points was only four fewer than Firefighters managed over the season, this smacks of a form of nepotism. Some day, perhaps, the PCSL will accept Victoria for some other reason than a needed soccer pitch.

COLUMBUS LOST: A Vancouver report has it that Columbus, first-half champions, are planning to disband and drop out of the Pacific Coast Soccer League. One can only hope that it is no more than a rumor, for loss of the Italian club would be a serious setback. It was their fans who did the most to bring PCSL attendance to about 106,000, the highest total for some years. Seattle Hungarians will probably be added to the PCSL for next season but Mainland soccer will not quite be the same without Columbus.

WITH HONOR: Just about the time, only a few days back, when he delivered his No. 3,431 to set a new National League record, Stan Musial was making plans to visit two college campuses.

He goes to Notre Dame as a proud parent to be on hand for graduation ceremonies which include his son, Andrus, who never had a chance to go to college, for loss of the Italian club would be a serious setback. It was their fans who did the most to bring PCSL attendance to about 106,000, the highest total for some years. Seattle Hungarians will probably be added to the PCSL for next season but Mainland soccer will not quite be the same without Columbus.

of the first inning after Vets had scored three. Vets tied the game in the sixth inning and scored the eventual game-winner in the seventh when Chuck Bennett tripled and scored on an infield play.

Official league opening takes place Saturday afternoon with a doubleheader, the games of which haven't been announced.

Naval Vets consolidated their hold on second place in the Senior Amateur Baseball League last night by whipping the last-place Eagles, 11-5, at Royal Athletic Park.

Eagles started out well, scoring five runs in their half-

Thursday, and they were approved quickly by the Illinois Athletic Commission.

The announcement was made by Al Bolan, vice-president of Championship Sports Incorporated, which has the two boxers under contract and Irving Schoenwald, Chicagoan who is acting as promoter of the match.

SPILLS OUT DETAILS

They told reporters: Tickets will be priced at $100, $50, $30, $20, and $10, and all the 57,000 seats will be sold on a reserved basis.

The net gate receipts will be split up this way: Patterson 45 per cent, Liston 12 1/2 and Championship Sports 42 1/2.

Ancillary revenues—from the closed circuit telecast and other sources—will be earmarked this way: Patterson 55 per cent, Liston 42 1/2 and Championship Sports 42 1/2.

Liston has been guaranteed a minimum of $200,000 — an amount that Bolan termed "the most any challenger ever has been guaranteed."

Bolan predicted the over-all income will exceed $5,000,000.

ALBANY (CP) — The

presidents of the five Western Football Conference clubs ruled Thursday that Calgary Stampedeers can have Edmonton's Rollie Miles if Eskimos don't remove him from their unprotected list.

The presidents gave Edmonton until Monday to revise their list. H. (Red) McMahon, president of the Eskimos, and General Manager Joe Ryan said they have not decided what action will be taken.

Calgary claimed Miles, an 11-year veteran Canadian who Edmonton wanted Carruthers to pass through the player equalization draft first.

Joe Ryan, general manager of Edmonton Eskimos, was further over the decision by WFC directors to award Calgary a player from the equalization pool.

The action followed a demand from Edmonton Eskimos to have the four-player deal, one unnamed player is still to come to Calgary — cancelled because Carruthers was on Stampedeers' unprotected list. Edmon-

Reds Regain Winning Ways But Road Back All Uphill

Cincinnati Reds must be wondering just what they will have to do to retain the National League championship. Although a bit slow getting started this season, the Reds came on to win 19 of the 25 games they played in May. Their net gain, however, was only a game and a half. They started May in eighth place, six and a half games out of lead. They ended the month in third place, but there are still five games between them and first place. Ahead are the San Francisco Giants, who had a 20-10 record for May, and the Los Angeles Dodgers, who moved from fourth place, two and a half games out, to second place, only a half game away from the Giants.

The Dodgers crept closer yesterday by winning their 11th in a row, and extending a losing streak to 11 games, by whipping the hopeless New York Mets, 6-3.

Meanwhile, the Giants had a seven-game win streak ended as Philadelphia Phillies' Art Mahaffey beat them, 2-1, with almost flawless control of a blazing fast ball.

Laurie Kerr After Third Straight Crown

The city amateur golf championship starts Sunday and the man to beat, naturally, is Colwood's Laurie Kerr.

Kerr has won the title for the last two years. It's been his four of the past five years, and five in the last seven. Last year he won it with a four-over-par 211 to beat George Vale's Bill Wakeham by one stroke.

The competition is over 54 holes of medal play. First 36 holes will be played Sunday over Kerr's home course.

Kerr and Wakeham are both two-handicappers, as are Harold Jacobsen of Colwood and Gord Fallow, Frank Scroggs and Bob Hunt of Uplands.

Ten entrants are playing to four handicaps, including Colwood's Bill McCall, who finished third last year. Others are John Merriman, Ed Varga, Dave Farnthorpe, Vince Wheatley, Mike Kolb, Watson Finley, and Gordie Jones of Gorge Vale; Vic Painter of Colwood and J. Hadfield of Uplands.

Sunday's draw:

MERCURY HAS A NEW SMALL VOICE

One of the problems of building a powerful outboard is to keep it quiet.

There are two sources of noise in an outboard... the powerhead and the exhaust. Mercury engineering attacked this problem at its two sources.

Combustion noises have been greatly reduced by the new Power-Dome combustion chambers which squish the fuel-air mixture.

A second step in reducing noise was through the use of Mercury's Jet-Prop which fires the exhaust through the center of the propeller hub, burying it far deeper than other outboards which drag the exhaust outlet near the surface. Jet-Prop literally drowns exhaust noise and, at the same time, improves the engine's breathing and reduces underwater drag.

Mercury relies not on padding alone, but on creative engineering to give you more powerful outboards with a new small voice... to give you more run for your money.

Staley Wins Post

The appointment of E. T. Staley as international representative of United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners was announced this week.

Present secretary of the B.C. provincial council of carpenters and vice-president of Victoria Labor Council, Mr. Staley will continue in his capacity as provincial council secretary until biennial elections in October.

On June 17, Mr. Staley will take over the international representative post left vacant by the recent death of Victor Midgley.

Mr. Staley has been council secretary for the last 10 years and prior to that was an officer of carpenters and joiners union here and president of Vancouver Island District Council of Carpenters.

College president Dr. W. L. Clark of Conquest, Sask., outlined the dentists' views in a letter to Premier Woodrow Lloyd.

The dentists backed up the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons, which has bitterly opposed the plan.

Mr. Davies wrote in his replying letter the college said the act was grossly unfair

City Student Wins Honors In Saskatoon

A Victoria student has won two scholarships for his work at the University of Saskatchewan.

Paul A. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Phillips, 988 Claremont Avenue, Cordova Bay, placed first in department of economics and political science exams.

He won a $2,500 fellowship from the Centre for Community Studies in Saskatoon and a $1,200 George W. Robertson scholarship from the university. He plans to study for a master's degree.

Mr. Phillips attended Mount View High School and Victoria University.

Demolition Starts On Old Buildings

An old store and several other buildings are being torn down at the corner Blanshard Street and Kings Road in the area scheduled for blight clearing.

City council ordered the demolition several months ago after several of the buildings were condemned.

Dentists' Medicare Criticism Rebuked by Health Minister

REGINA (CP) — Health Minister W. G. Davies yesterday took issue with some interpretations of the Medical Care Insurance Act made by the College of Dental Surgeons of Saskatchewan, which this week declared its opposition to the government's compulsory medical care insurance plan.

College president Dr. W. L. Clark of Conquest, Sask., outlined the dentists' views in a letter to Premier Woodrow Lloyd.

The dentists backed up the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons, which has bitterly opposed the plan.

Mr. Davies wrote in his replying letter the college said the act was grossly unfair when it made no provision for the chairman of the medical care insurance commission to be a physician chosen and approved by the college of physicians and surgeons.

Mr. Davies said government invitations to the doctors to discuss the establishment of the commission and its constitution have been refused.

"The implication of your objection appears to be the control of the commission should be turned over to the college of physicians and surgeons. Yet, the matter with which the commission is concerned is the payment of doctors' bills from public funds. This is mainly an economic matter and not a medical matter. Certainly the payment of doctors' bills is as much a concern of the people of the province as it is of the physicians."

Sunday School Rally Set for Band, Choir

A massed choir and 100-piece band will stage a mammoth centennial Sunday School rally in Beacon Hill Park at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Children from Port Renfrew, Sooke, Chemainus and Sidney as well as the Greater Victoria area will be represented in the 450-voice choir.

Choirs will form up at the aviary and Robert Burns monument to begin a procession through the park to the Cameron Band Shell.

Three Experts Appointed

Team to Probe Unrest In City's Public Works

By TED SHACKLEFORD

A committee of three experts in widely different fields has been appointed to survey Victoria's public works department from top to bottom.

The startling move was made at a closed meeting of city council yesterday. The department is headed by city engineer James Garnett.

It follows strong rumors of unrest among public works department staff, dramatic resignation of a senior official and unprecedented intervention by Vancouver Island architects.

FIRST MEETING

First meeting of the committee will be held Tuesday. No estimate of how long the survey would take was available last night.

"In view of the resignation of one of the senior staff, it seems an opportune time for a survey to be made of the public works department," Mayor R. B. Wilson said.

THREE EXPERTS

The committee consists of an expert in municipal government — city manager C. C. Wyatt; an engineering expert — Col. W. G. Swan; and an accounting expert — G. Fitzpatrick Dunn.

"We feel the committee will bring in a factual report of the conditions in the public works department," Mayor Wilson added.

"The department is the largest spender of public funds and an occasional analysis of its operation is simply good business practice."

'DEAN' OF ENGINEERS

Col. Swan is acknowledged as the "dean" of professional engineers in B.C. He is senior partner in the Vancouver firm of Swan and Wooster, past president of the Engineering Association of B.C., a life member of the Engineering Institute of Canada and a member of the Consulting Engineering Association of Canada.

DOES AUDITS

Mr. Dunn is senior partner in the Victoria firm of Ismay, Bolton and Dunn, which carries out city hall audits. He is a past president of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of B.C., a past president of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce, a past president of Victoria chamber and a past director of the Canadian chamber.

SURVEY ORDERED

Mayor Wilson said last night the survey was ordered partly as a result of rumors of unrest among public works department staff. It is aimed at finding out if there is unrest, its cause, and how to correct it.

Rumors have been current at city hall for some weeks preceding a recent reshuffle of staff positions which saw Roderick Clark shifted from his position as head of the city's planning and inspection division and replacement by William Jorgenson, formerly sewer engineer. Mr. Clark was given planning duties.

AFTER CHANGE

Soon after the change, city traffic engineer Norman Worsley resigned his $700-a-month job after 11 years' service with the city, without giving any reason. He has steadfastly refused to disclose why he resigned.

WYATT ASKED

And, soon after Mr. Worsley resigned, the Vancouver Island chapter of the Architectural Institute of B.C. asked city council to reconsider the change in Mr. Clark's position. Last Thursday Mr. Wyatt was asked by city council to look into the situation.

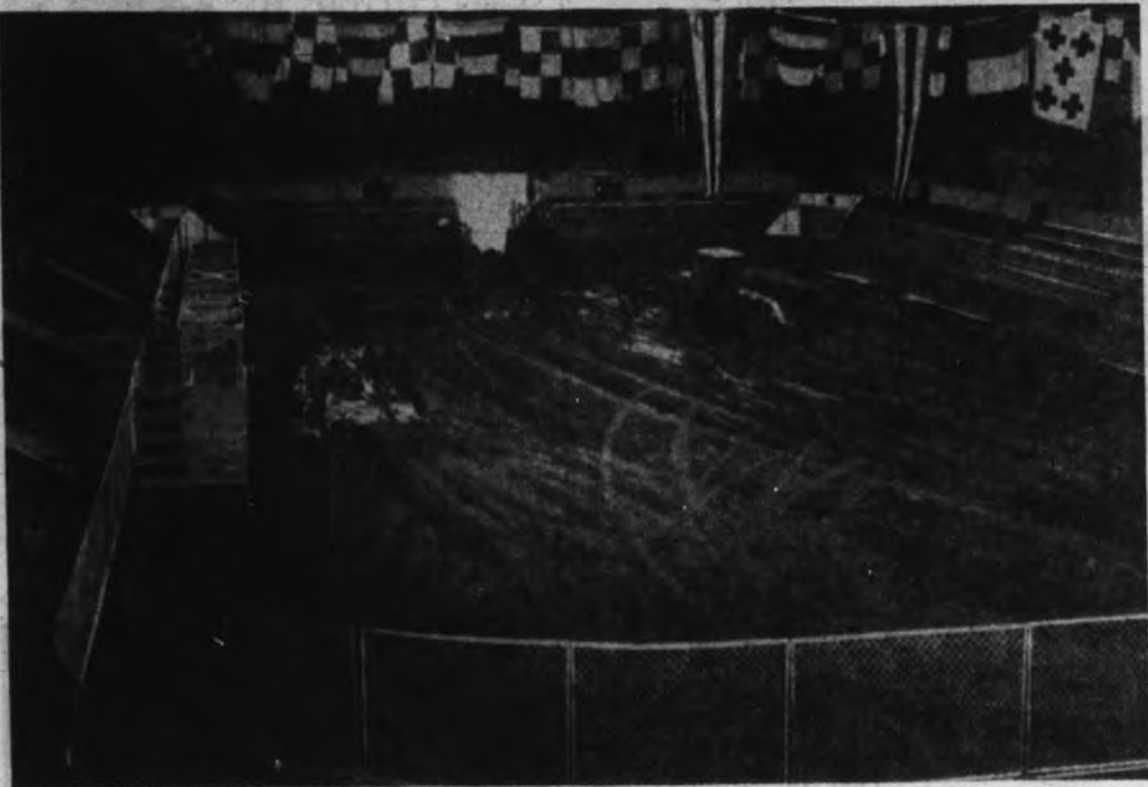

Special Stamp For Pageant On Sale Aug. 22

A five-cent stamp specially designed to pay tribute to Victoria's centenary will go on sale Aug. 22, post office officials said yesterday.

The new stamp will show a miniature of the 1861 2½-penny rose, the first stamp issued in what is now British Columbia and a picture of the legislative buildings flanked by sprigs of dogwood. The two pictures will be separated by a banner reading "1862 Victoria 1962."

Designer of the new stamp is Canadian artist Helen Bacon of Toronto, who also designed the 1960 Girl Guide, the 1959 Associated Country Women of the World and the 1962 Education stamps.

'In National Interest'

Gelling Drops From Contest

W. C. Gelling has withdrawn as an Independent Conservative candidate in the June 18 federal election.

He said yesterday his action was based on the belief that the national interest takes precedence over any local issues. "I feel that it is in the best interest of Canada that the Progressive Conservative party be re-elected," said Mr. Gelling. "Therefore I have no alternative but to withdraw my name as an Independent Conservative candidate."

'CLOSE RANKS'

Mr. Gelling called on his supporters to close ranks behind A. DeB. McPhillips, Progressive Conservative candidate in Victoria, and "join me in supporting the party's program in the national interest."

It was Mr. Gelling's attempt to oppose Mr. McPhillips for the Conservative nomination that sparked a row which led to the former school board chairman's decision to run as an independent.

Officials of the local Conservative association ruled Mr. Gelling was ineligible to stand for nomination because he hadn't been a party member for the required 30 days. He announced, after the nomination went to Mr. Mc-

Phillips, that he would oppose the Conservative candidate as an independent and let the voters have final say in the dispute. Yesterday, however, after review of his own position and the state of the campaign, Mr. Gelling decided to withdraw.

'NATIONAL INTEREST'

Mr. Gelling said in a prepared statement: "I would like to thank the many people who have come forward to encourage me in my endeavor. I am prepared to re-evaluate my services in the future, but at this time I ask that they join me in supporting the Progressive Conservative program in the national interest."

Riders Get 'Carpet'

A grader and a scoop shovel were used to spread more than 600 yards of topsoil over the floor of Memorial Arena yesterday for the Vic-Van Isle Kinsmen Club Centennial Rodeo, starting at 8 p.m. today. Riders will compete again at 2 and 8 p.m. Saturday. After the show, the topsoil valued at $1,700 will be scooped up and sold to the city. — (Colonist photo.)

Order Sought for Man Who Molested Child

An order-in-council is sought by local authorities to commit to an asylum a man who molested a four-year-old girl while he was free on a weekend pass from Wilkinson Road Mental Hospital.

When the man appeared in Victoria police court yesterday on a charge of indecent assault, city prosecutor Angus Smith asked for a week's remand to enable him to contact the attorney-general's department on the matter.

The prosecutor told Magistrate William Ostler a psychiatrist's examination of the man showed he was unfit to face trial.

Dr. L. G. C. d'Easum, medical superintendent of Wilkinson Road Mental Hospital, could not be contacted yesterday.

From One Small Cutting

Admiring glance from Mrs. Frances Shaper is directed toward her 25-foot wisteria tree. Mrs. Shaper planted tree next to her home at 664

Obedience On Trial

Dumbbell-bearing jumpers are two champions training for dog obedience trials slated by Victoria Dog Obedience Training for Saturday at Badminton Hall, at 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Judges will be Frederick E. Marsh of Seattle and Mrs. Arthur Bourassa of Cloverdale. Jumpers are Labrador Minahank's Merry Major, left, owned by Mrs. R. B. Bates, and golden retriever Golden Honey, owned by Mrs. J. L. Smith. — (Colonist photo.)

From Keenleyside

No Assurance Hydro to Stay

A B.C. Hydro and Power Authority chief declined to give assurance yesterday that most of Hydro's Victoria employees will be able to continue working here.

Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, co-chairman of the authority, told the Colonist by telephone from the Vancouver Hydro office:

"The whole question of organizational arrangements is still being worked out and no one will be moved unless it is essential to be moved."

NO COMMENT

When a reporter suggested his statement does not say what percentage of the staff will remain here, Dr. Keenleyside said he could make no further comment.

However, he added that the unsettled situation will be worked out "as rapidly as we can."

In the meantime, a Hydro employee who wished to remain anonymous said he and many others who do not want to give up their homes are wondering if they will have to look for new jobs.

CHAMBERS WORRIED

Officials of the senior and junior chambers of commerce here have expressed concern about the situation. They wonder what effect a possible loss of an estimated $1,500,000 government payroll will have on Victoria's economy.

John Copping, manager of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber recently failed to obtain information it sought from Dr. Keenleyside and that Premier Bennett did not even answer a similar letter sent to him. The Junior Chamber of Commerce recently passed a motion decrying the possible transfer of Hydro employees to Vancouver.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said Wednesday "we have done everything in our power to bring to the attention of the government and power authorities our desire that they should keep as many of their staff as possible in Victoria."

Local Meat Inspection Starts Today

Locally slaughtered meat will be inspected at a depot set up by the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health starting at 8 a.m. today.

Board chairman G. K. Sammon announced yesterday that Agriculture Minister Frank Richter had appointed city veterinarian Dr. D. W. Gaunt inspector in charge of the depot.

Inspection services will cover Oak Bay, Victoria, Esquimalt and Sidney.

All farmers and slaughterers are required to submit locally slaughtered meat to the depot to have it inspected and stamped with the legend "B.C. Passed."

'Local Abattoirs Fail To Meet Standards'

Agriculture Minister Frank Richter said yesterday the adoption of federal specifications for slaughterhouses operating in the Greater Victoria area was part of a nationwide move towards uniformity of standards.

He said the policy of a single standard for all provinces had been adopted at a meeting of provincial agriculture ministers at Ottawa last year.

None of the smaller abattoirs currently operating in this area met the bare minimum of federal standards, said Mr. Richter.

He said two companies which proposed to put up two new abattoirs that, under provincial policy, will handle all future meat slaughtered here, have been told they would have to meet the federal building specifications.

"It would be unfair to have them build according to provincial requirements, only to have to turn around and have to renovate their plants once meat inspection comes under federal control," said Mr. Richter.

He said federal specifications were extensive. Concrete block buildings, with special requirements as to spacing of windows, air conditioning, cooler space and other equipment are among the detailed requirements set out by the federal government.

There will also be office space for government meat inspectors.

Two local companies, Henry Chung's and F. J. McGrath's, are reported to be in the planning stages of putting up the abattoirs.

MURIEL HERBERHOLZ

Seen In Passing

Muriel Herberholz buying some lobelia for her garden. (Muriel and husband Tony, who drives a fuel oil truck, live at 570 Agnes Street. With their six-year-old son Patrick, their hobbies are camping and gardening.) ... (Bet Herrington talking about yachting and real estate almost in the same breath.) ... Maggi Davidson planning a trip to Seyward ... Bud Dunnett quietly working over a river pool with a black ant fly.

To prevent a reception line fashion clash, the mothers of the bride and groom should wear harmonious wedding attire. Here, two elegant mothers who sewed their own—after conferring together as to fabric and color—receive cake and compliments from the Pump Room maitre d'hotel at Toronto's Lord Simcoe Hotel. The groom's mother, left, wears a rich gold afternoon dress; the bride's mother, a dress and jacket ensemble made of antique gold and white lame.

Bridal Pageant Needs Planning

Movie-makers are given to spot-lighting the plight of the "father of the bride." However, veterans of one or many weddings know that it's the mother of the bride... and the mother of the groom...

Sketch Club Showing

The Victoria Sketch club will hold its ninth annual showing of water colors and oils in the Douglas Room, HBC, from June 5 to 9. The show will be open at 2:30 p.m. by Mr. Alan Edwards, internationally known local artist. Approximately 100 paintings will be shown and tea will be served. Miss Dorothy Lowe is convener. Pouring tea will be Madame Lugin Fahey, Mrs. A. T. Cowley and Mrs. J. B. Shaw. The president, Mrs. Ludham Hobbs, will introduce the guest speakers.

In response to a number of requests we'll repeat our suggestion for starching children's party dresses.

To restore that new crispness and give body to sheer dresses or bedroom curtains of organdie, voile and even washable rayons, use gelatin instead of regular laundry starch. To make the solution, soak one teaspoon of gelatin in half a cup of cold water, add two cups of boiling water and stir until the gelatin is dissolved, then dilute with two quarts of lukewarm water.

After washing and thoroughly rinsing the garments, dip them in the gelatin solution. Squeeze as much moisture as possible from them, then roll them in a bath towel until they're almost dry. Iron without sprinkling if possible, and watch that limp material perk up with new life.

Antique Hunters Love Paris

By NORA MARTIN

PARIS (TNS)—Antique lovers and treasure hunters are having a field-day in Paris. Seventy antique dealers are showing their highest priced objects in an exhibition staged as part of the annual Paris Fair.

Ranging from 24-centuries-old mosaics taken from a Greek bath to a lock of Napoleon's hair; from Roman-sculptured stone dragons to Lady Hamilton's silver bath-tub, the exhibition includes artistic or simply curious vestiges of the past 25 centuries, all together insured for $350,000,000.

In the huge exhibition hall, designed by Eiffel who also built the famous tower, the antique dealers have set up "rooms," small pavilions and even a genuine medieval keep to show off their treasures in the proper frame. For hours I walked through the past, looking at art objects, paintings and period furniture all created, used and admired long, long ago.

Under glass and on black velvet is shown a small blackened coin. The art dealer claims it to be one of the 30 pieces of silver paid to Judas for the betrayal of Christ. Showing it to me, the dealer admitted that there are some 200,000 "denari" in circulation today, all claimed to be part of the original biblical 30.

STONE DRAGONS

For somebody in search of a little something to live on the garden there is a pair of dog-size stone dragons, dating back to the Romans. They cost just under $10,000 and are guaranteed as a conversation-piece for any barbecue party. Incidentally, hobby-horses of much more recent times and taken from old village merry-go-rounds are much sought after in France as the latest garden decoration.

At the antique Fair I also spotted a golden necklace which belonged to a Grecian beauty some 100 years BC. Trimmed with fringes and tressed in gold, it would look a la mode today on any best-dressed lady.

IODE Would Assist Indians

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—The annual meeting of the IODE moved Wednesday to improve the living conditions of Canadian Indians.

The order recommended its national executive endorse a chair at a Canadian university to aid research into "the unfulfilled needs of our natives."

Mrs. G. W. Chant, of Toronto, national secretary, told the conference the standard of living of most Canadian Indians was "comparable to those in the underdeveloped countries of Asia and Africa."

Mrs. Peter L. Robinson of Toronto was re-elected national president.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm in terrible trouble and it's all your fault. Yesterday I was reading my newspaper during class. I folded up the pages to fit inside my text book. From the outside it looked like I was studying.

I was reading your column when I sensed someone was standing behind me. I thought it was the teacher but when I glanced up I found it was much worse than that—it was the superintendent of the whole pea-pickin' school system.

He said, "What do you think you are doing, young man?" I replied, "I am reading Ann Landers. She is very helpful to teenagers." He said, "I agree, but how can she help you with geometry?" I thought I would be humorous so I answered, "Well, she knows all the angles."

Now I have to write out your whole column in long-hand, six times. This will take me at least two and a half hours. Would you say the superintendent has no sense of humor? —STIFF FIN- GERS.

Dear Stiff: If you think I'm going to take on the whole pea-pickin' school system you are sadly in error. I love my readers—each and every one—but there's a time and place for everything and you were doing the right thing at the wrong time, Bub.

Chains Hit Limelight

Chains are no longer for slaves, nor are feathers strictly for the birds.

In Paris chains are the latest fashion fad now slavishly being followed by French girls. The chains they use by choice go around the neck, the waist, the wrists, the ankles and even the toes. Collar necklaces, made up of 15 to 20 fine gold chains, are worn for an Egyptian style with cocktail dresses.

Chain belts on the low-slung hipster skirts and pants are French girls' favorite daytime accessories. Gold chain bracelets will be worn even with swim-suits on the beach.

Writer Chronicles One Delightful Day

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Once one day this space was devoted to what I call a "day of horrors"—when everything goes wrong from the time you get up until you're tucked out at night.

In all fairness, I decided the time had come for the other side of the picture—that a day of delight also should be chronicled.

"What day would that be?" asked an irritated husband whose morning has started off poorly. He was out of razor blades and had gotten under the shower before he noticed the soap dish was empty.

"Almost any bright day in May is a day of delight," I countered.

Keep track, if you will, of one of these days and see how smoothly everything goes.

The egg yolks stay whole when the egg is broken into the frying pan at breakfast. The toaster at our house works like it was new—turning out golden brown bread instead of singed.

The boy produces the morning paper at the front door on time—on a day of horrors, it always seems to arrive late.

No runs developed in a stocking as I got dressed on a delightful day. Matter of fact, one started off so beautifully I decided it was time to wear a new dress to work.

"You look nice, dear," said the husband. Yes, the day was going well.

The morning mail brought no bills, a rare thing in this era of staggered billings by the stores. A letter from home said a favorite uncle, on a hospital's critical list for several days, was on the mend.

On days like this, as you walk to the bus stop, the head goes a little higher, you breathe a little deeper and feel years younger.

The bus driver whistles while he works, instead of growling at the passengers and cursing the traffic.

"My, you look nice," said the boss when we walked into the office.

There, sitting on my desk, was a pot of lilies of the valley, sent by a press agent for a perfume which carries the lilies' scent. If anything helps make a day more delightful, it's a gift of spring flowers.

On days like this, if there are children in the family, there are halos around their heads instead of live worms in their pockets.

Days like this mean that if you have an appointment with the hairdresser, you're on time—and so is she, or he. You even feel like doing what the hairdresser suggested and try a new hair style.

Home eventually, thinking that you're a creative cook not a drudge to the stove as you plan what to have for dinner tonight. Maybe you'll make a soufflé—soufflés never fail on days like this.

But this time, creative cook doesn't get a chance.

The head of the house takes one look at what the hairdresser hath wrought and says, "dear, why don't we go out to dinner?"

Home in Oregon For Newlyweds

A honeymoon spent motoring along the coast of Oregon followed the wedding of Pearl Jeanie Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Ward, Oak Bay Towers, Newport Avenue, and Mr. John Dean.

Bishop K. Rankiloff officiated at the wedding, and the bride's father gave Miss Ward in marriage.

The petite and dainty bride was charming in a gown of champagne satin with lace overlay, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and lily of the valley. Her veil mistled from a champagne crown of leaves sprinkled with tiny pearls.

Mrs. Pat Bell of Winnipeg was matron of honor in a turquoise peau de sole dress and carried pale yellow daisies. Her pearl-studded headdress matched her dress.

Best man was Mr. Theodore Cromer of Portland, Ore., and ushers were Mr. Harry Helges and Mr. Richard Paterson of Victoria.

A champagne toast was made to the bride by Canon F. Nicholson of St. Mary's Church, Kerrisdale. Assisting the bride in receiving her guests at the Dingle House, Gorge Road, was her mother in pale blue silk. A special guest from Winnipeg was the bride's aunt, Miss Alice Fryer.

For her wedding trip, the bride changed into a navy silk crepe import with cream coat. Mr. and Mrs. Dean will reside in Lake Oswego, Ore.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bell, Winnipeg; Mr. Theodore Cromer, Portland; Mrs. W. Cleave, Mr. and Mrs. L. Alward and Miss Lee Munro all of Vancouver.

Far-Flung Alma Maters On Meeting's Roll Call

One of the most interesting items on the program of the recent University Women's Club dinner-meeting was the roll call made of the 50 far-flung alma maters to which the members belong. Mrs. R. S. Twining proposed a toast to the alma maters. Mrs. T. B. Williams toasted the Federation of University Women. Mrs. A. H. Gunning, president of the club proposed the toast to the Queen.

Special guests at the meeting which was held in St. Luke's Church hall following a banquet were this year's graduating women of Victoria University. Invited were Miss Merilyn Armstrong, Miss Marie Rarr, Miss Kathleen Harmer, Miss Judith Hirst, Mrs. Dale Irvine, Miss Gwyneth Judd, Miss Heather MacDonald, Miss Lovisa MacKay, Miss Marion Nezger, Miss Diana Nelson, Miss Diane Robertson, Miss Margaret Salmon, Miss Helen Becker, Miss Ella Bone, Mrs. Phyllis Hatch, Mrs. Marie McKee, Miss Jean Matheson and Mrs. Miriam Taylor.

The president reported that three new committees had been organized in the last year: historic sites committee under Mrs. F. G. Hart, which planned for the restoration of the Gorge Park; public affairs committee under Mrs. R. G. Hobson, which made reports on juvenile delinquency; education committee under Mrs.

T. B. Williams and Mrs. T. South, which did work in oral French and education curriculum.

It was reported that 37 students from 13 countries came to Victoria for the annual scholarship tea. Mrs. D. Cox reported on the B.C. Regional Conference held on May 12.

During the past year the following met at the ten executive meetings: past president, Mrs. H. R. Turner; first vice-president, Mrs. J. L. Andrews; second vice-president, Mr. R. S. Fraser; federation representative, Mrs. D. Bowes; recording secretary, Miss Peggy Lowe; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. B. Conway; treasurer, Miss L. Worthington; social convener, Mrs. E. G. Talman; publicity, Mrs. P. R. A. Coombes and study group convener, Mrs. M. C. Matheson. Two new members were elected to this standing executive Mrs. F. G. Hart, treasurer and Mrs. J. J. O'Reilly, publicity.

Highlight of the evening was entertainment provided by two well known young Victoria musicians and a skit put on by members of the club. Solo clarinetist, Gary Brandon and pianist, Sidney Bulman Fleming presented three enjoyable numbers before the satiric skit, "The Ivory Tower." Those taking part in the skit were Mrs. B. A. Daykin, Mrs. A. B. Sanderson, Mrs. W. A. Porter, Mrs. D. M. Cox, Miss J. Fleming, Mrs. M. Taylor, Mrs. D. P. Sabiston, Miss M. Gill and Mrs. R. S. Fraser.

Mrs. Fraser was in charge of arrangements for the affair.

A Fine Wasn't Enough

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's highest court found Wednesday a police court magistrate unlawfully fined a Vancouver man when he should have sent him to jail.

Court of Appeal raised the sentence on Richard Aproberts from a $75 fine to six months in jail on three counts of making telephone threats.

The court said fines cannot lawfully be given for offences that carry a maximum jail term of more than five years. Maximum term for making telephone threats is 10 years. The Crown appealed Aproberts' sentence on the grounds it was too light.

Aproberts was charged with making the threats to Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Palement and Donald Evert between Dec. 8, 1961 and Feb. 26 this year. Magistrate Bernard Isman fined Aproberts $25 on each count or 30 days in jail.

Helicopters to Spot Ships' Oil Dumping

OTTAWA (UPI) — Helicopters will patrol the St. Lawrence Seaway this summer to detect illegal dumping of oil from ships using the busy waterway, the transport department announced yesterday.

The helicopter patrols "will be used as an experiment in the fight against pollution of Canadian waters by oil-dumping ships," it was said.

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Canadian government yesterday announced sale of 45 Canadian road graders worth $1,000,000 to the Argentine province of La Tampa.

Five Children Died Mother Gets Jail

KAMLOOPS (CP) — A 25-year-old expectant mother was sentenced to three months Thursday, after being convicted of exposing her five children so that their lives were endangered.

Mrs. Stanley Bowie, of Barriere, sat quiet and sullen as the sentence was read by Magistrate D. M. MacDonald in district court.

In his reasons for the judgment, the magistrate said "this sort of conduct, to my mind, amounts to complete and utter disregard for the safety of these little ones."

"Once the accused failed to get a baby sitter and then went to visit her friends and from there went to the Canadian Legion, she was placing her own pleasure above the safety and well-being, and as it turned out, the very lives of her children."

The comments were made in reference to a fire which destroyed the Bowie home Jan. 8, and in which Mrs. Bowie's five boys ranging in age from five years to five months, burned to death.

The magistrate added: "The fact of the matter is that in this province alone, last year, there were five similar instances where children lost their lives in similar circumstances."

Real Heat-Lovers

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Last week we were discussing those problem flower beds out around the front of the house — very much in the public eye — and what kinds of plants to buy for furnishing them. If your house faces the south or southwest, with a real hot, dry, sun-baked bed out front, you could do a lot worse than to take a tip from our fuddy-duddy Victorian ancestors and plant it up with a bold mass of the old-fashioned scarlet geraniums.

These plants are real heat-lovers and will revel in conditions that would sizzle the juices out of such subjects as stocks or pansies.

Geraniums are rather expensive to buy — at least, if you need any great quantity of them to make a showing — and they'll probably set you back somewhere around 75 cents a plant for good, stocky specimens furnished with buds and all set to burst into bloom. You get a lot of mileage out of them, though, for if you are a smart gardener, you can keep them alive in the basement through the winter and you won't have to buy another batch next spring.

Geraniums also are easy to propagate, for slips will root almost as easily as mint. So while a dozen plants may cost enough to make quite a dent in the household budget, the first cost can be the last, because you can take cuttings, root them to make more plants and so keep going indefinitely on your original investment.

There are two points to observe when setting out your geranium plants. First, don't set them into the ground straight up and down as they were in their flower pots but plant them on the slant, with the main stem at an angle of about 45 degrees to the soil surface. After planting, cut off the top inch from each plant.

If you put them in standing straight up, you get one good cluster of flowers on top and that's all. If you set them in on the slant, though, and chop their heads off, you'll get a flowering sidehoot growing straight up from each joint or knuckle in the stem and you'll have as many as five blooms on each plant rather than only one.

The second thing to watch is to make the soil very firm around the roots, treading it down with your feet or using your fist to pack the soil down hard. I picked up this bit of geranium lore from the late W. R. Reader, beloved parks superintendent for the city of Calgary, who knew more about the quirks and whims of flowering plants than I ever hope to learn.

If the soil is loose around the roots, your plants will grow tremendously, but they'll be all leaves and no flowers and too tall for a good bedding effect. When the dirt is packed down hard, they make short-jointed, sturdy plants with far more flowers on them.

A very good edging plant to put a pretty contrasting border around a bed of scarlet geraniums is ageratum and especially a hybrid variety called Blue Bink. This is a dwarf, compact plant about six inches tall with fluffy flowers in powder blue — a refreshing change from lobelia or sweet alyssum.

If you would like to create an exotic, tropical effect in your south-facing flower bed, a good stunt is to set out one single plant of dracaena in the exact centre of the geranium bed. Most greenhouse operators grow and sell this plant, which looks something like a small palm tree, very effective along with the tropical flowers of the geraniums.

The popular pronunciation of the plant's name is dra-SEE-na, although the purists insist it should be called dra-KAY-na.

This combination is a very good one, for those ornamental urns and tubs in the garden — a dracaena plant in the middle with a few geraniums around it, and a few bits of trailing lobelia to hang down over the sides.

Idea Mart Heads for Books

Doubleday, one of the largest of the book publishing empires, is currently negotiating to purchase controlling interest of one of the largest of the magazine empires, the Curtis Publishing Co., which publishes the Saturday Evening Post, Ladies Home Journal, and Holiday, thus practically completing the odd and interesting merger between the book and the magazine business.

These non-books have made Time, Inc., an estimated profit of $1,500,000 while Life magazine has trouble-making ends meet with the advertising dollar.

them extraordinarily profitable. (Actually both have had minor skirmishes with the book business and I'm probably laying myself wide open for the Go Climb a Tree Department by calling the New Yorker books of stories and cartoons minor.)

Idea Mart of World

Books and magazines represent the idea mart of our world; what's happening there is of sharp concern to all of us since about 90 per cent of our ideas originate in books and magazines. (That leaves a rather impressive 10 per cent of ideas to originate elsewhere, of which I've rather arbitrarily decided, one per cent emanates from world leaders — Presidents, Popes, Supreme Court Justices, Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition, underground leaders, and so forth — and the other nine per cent issue out of the mouths of babes.)

Launches Own Book Club

Time (which has recently bought Silver-Burdett and Ginn, publishers of text books) has also just launched its own book club in which it plans to issue paper back books to subscribers four times a year.

Time, of course, is using its immensely valuable list of subscribers to sell books to. It's thus following a path into the book business blazed by Reader's Digest 12 years ago. Reader's Digest condensed books are now one of the biggest single things in book publishing with a membership of 2,500,000 which is far larger than Book of the Month or any other book club.

No Present Intentions

Neither Look nor The New Yorker has any present intention of getting into the book business, probably because both are making lots of money out of their magazines. Book publishers view this invasion from outer space into their private club with mixed feelings. They like the lists of subscribers the magazine publishers own, which open vast new territories for books, but they feel the quality of books or non-books sold these people is getting lower and lower. Also, there's a glut of books, especially paperbacks.

Nonsense Ruled Supreme

What's happening is that the idea mart is getting out of the advertising business where cost-per-thousand, circulation, impact, image, and all that nonsense ruled supreme. Today, to put it as bluntly as possible, books are profitable and magazines aren't. This has brought about some curious paradoxes, not the least of which is Time, Inc.

Sank Big Magazines

Over five years ago Crowell-Collier sank its two big magazines, Collier's and Woman's Home Companion, to concentrate on its immensely profitable encyclopedia. Since then it has bought Macmillan's, one of the old line publishers, and Brentano's famous book stores, getting really up to the ears in the book business. So is everybody else.

Publishers Lost Faith

A book publisher said recently: "You can't help feeling the magazine publishers have lost faith in their own business when you see them getting into ours." A long time ago, Theodore H. White in View from the Fortieth Floor, the thinly disguised story of the death of Collier's, introduced the idea that maybe magazines are obsolete.

Time magazine originated the phrase "non-books" which it scornfully applied to anything pasted together without any clearcut author and with the sole purpose of making money. Yet today Time, Inc., is more deeply imbedded in the production of non-books than anyone else.

McCall's Lining Up

McCall's is rumored to be lining up with Random House in a plan to publish and distribute its cookbooks, and books on interior decorating, needlework, and so forth. Other tie-ups between the magazine and book publishing worlds include American Heritage books and magazine and Horison — magazine, Atlantic Monthly and Little Brown publishers, and Harper's magazine and publishing house.

Ultimately Only Two

Maybe they are. Not long ago, a magazine publisher said to me privately that ultimately there would be only two magazines. The National Geographic because it's non-profit and McCall's because its owners didn't seem interested in making money.

Atlas Took Drubbing

Time Inc.'s non-books include Life's Pictorial Atlas of the World (which took a drubbing from the critics for inaccuracy), Epic of Man, Life's Guide to Paris, The Life Picture Cookbook — all of them using old color plates left over from Life articles, all of them immensely profitable.

Two Very Profitable

If the sale of Curtis to Doubleday goes through — and it probably will — the only major magazines that will be out of the book business will be Look and The New Yorker, both of

Much Printed Matter

As far as the reader is concerned, there will be plenty of printed matter around to read and plenty of color plates to look at — whether there are any magazines in existence or not — but the material will not be slanted for, or conditioned by, subject to the whims of Madison Avenue — and, in so far as the world of ideas go, this is a very healthy revolution.

Hollywood Today

By Sheilah Graham

Cleo's Love Was Killed

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — The Loves of Cleopatra, an Italian movie made a year ago, was quietly bought up and removed from the market by 20th Century-Fox bossman Spyros Skouras. Wouldn't do to have two Cleos vying for public favor, not overlook dollars, at the same time, would it?

David Niven was called in the dead of night in Rome by a voice that whispered, "This is Joe the Ethiopian, come and tweet." "He took me to an Ethiopian Twentieth-century," says David. "And we stayed there until 3 a.m. when I suddenly yelled, 'Good grief, I have to report for work at 6.'"

Now that Charlie Feldman is producing The Greatest Story Ever Told, what price Capucine as Mary Magdalene? The first time around for this movie's casting, Elizabeth Taylor had shown interest in the role, but no one knows what Elizabeth plans to do after she gets officially cleared of Cleopatra.

Study Conference Told:

Cheap, Fast Transport Will Weld the World

Albert Finney plays Ned Kelly in Australia after Tom Jones in England, which will also have Margaret Leighton but not Mr. Alec Guinness.

EDMONTON (UPI) — J. T. Dymond, chief engineer of Trans-Canada Airlines, said yesterday international understanding would be increased through cheap and fast transportation systems.

Marie MacDonald, in New York, has been suffering excruciating tummy-aches. Marie, a big hit at the Latin quarter, told me since ex-husband Harry married Debbie Reynolds he has not come to see their children. "He's too busy being a stepfather to Debbie's," said Marie. "Wouldn't it complete the picture if I married Eddie and then he could be stepfather to my children?"

Mr. Dymond made the comment while addressing a one-day session of the second Commonwealth study conference here.

Someone tried to talk Carlo Ponti into hiring a press agent for Sophia Loren. "But she already has a good public relations man," Carlo replied. "Me."

Supersonic commercial airliners capable of speeds up to 2,000 M.P.H. would be in use within the next 15 years, Mr. Dymond predicted. "The commercial use of vertical take-off would be a reality by 1960," he added.

One reason for the run of such good Italian movies is the Italian government runs a school to train young men and women as directors and film editors.

Delegates leave here for Vancouver later where they will be joined by the Duke of Edinburgh Saturday.

Ben Gamara, in Rome for The Captive City, has made more movies in Italy than in Hollywood. And there will be twice as many films in Europe this summer as in Hollywood. The picketing of the movies of stars who prefer to work abroad might do something to bring them back to Hollywood. But not much, unless the government removes the tax-free situation.

Mystery of Boy Deepens

Off the Edge of the World

At 3.30 p.m. last Sunday eight-year-old Peter Woychshin might just as well have stepped off the edge of the world.

The brown-haired boy left his home at 552 Rupert Saturday at about 10 a.m. to play in nearby Beacon Hill Park. He never came home.

OTHERS SAW HIM

Other people saw him. They saw him Saturday at 11 a.m. by the park's cricket pitch. They saw him at about 3 p.m. the same day on the rocks in the park, opposite South Park School.

They saw Peter Sunday at 12.30 p.m. at Ogden Point and on Dallas Road; the same day at 1.30 p.m. at the CPR dock in the Inner Harbor.

SEEN BY FRIENDS

He was seen by two small friends Sunday at about 3.30 p.m. near the south end of Beacon Hill Park, during the Golden Hawks' air show.

A massive search of the waterfront and the park, and round-the-clock checking of leads by city police and juvenile officers, has turned up no sign of the boy after that hour.

Only new development last night was the fact Peter was seen Sunday at 1.30 p.m. at the Inner Harbor by a boy who knows him well.

He said when he saw Peter the boy was just going to join a line-up waiting to inspect the RCN submarine HMS Grilse.

TURNED AND RAN

"I spoke to him and he ran," the boy told police. Peter, he said, spoke not a word but turned and ran off from the dock up toward Belleville Street.

All possible leads have been taken by police in their search. Every empty house in the James Bay area has been checked, and every shed that might offer a hiding place.

PERVERTS ASKED

Known sex perverts in the city have been questioned closely, particularly after two RCN sailors told police they had seen a boy of Peter's description with two homosexuals in Beacon Hill Park Saturday afternoon.

Use of tracking dogs has been considered and rejected as impractical.

"The only places Peter is known to have been seen were crowded with people throughout the weekend that he vanished," a police spokesman said.

"With crowds watching the Swiftsure race, bigger ones watching the air show, and lineups for the submarine, normal tracking would be hopeless."

PART BY BAND

The RCAF band from Edmonton that played in Beacon Hill Park Sunday afternoon played its own part in the search.

The band carried a number of large "instrument wardrobes" in which instruments are carried on trips. At the request of Victoria police, these wardrobes were carefully searched in Edmonton yesterday.

Oil Hunt Moves To Coast

VANCOUVER (CP)—Richfield Oil Corp., a major United States petroleum company, is planning to drill a 14,000-foot deep well near Tsawwassen.

The company announced the drilling cost is expected to be $300,000. A large drilling rig is being shipped from Calgary and crews are expected to start work next week.

The company is reported to hold more than 200,000 acres of oil and gas rights in the lower Fraser Valley area. It is reported to have obtained a large number of leases of oil, gas and mineral rights.

The company has abandoned wells at Cloverdale and Abbotsford in the valley after drilling 10,865 and 3,144 feet. Since 1937 oil companies have made periodic attempts to trace down elusive hints of petroleum reserves in the valley area. None have been successful.

Too Many or Too Few, Women Like Black Flies

EDMONTON (CP)—A key to happiness in a small isolated northern community is to avoid having between four and 12 women living in the place, says G. A. Finland, manager of the Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines.

He told the Second Commonwealth Study Conference that women "can be just as troublesome as the black flies" in isolated areas of the north. Things go fine and amicably and community life is pleasant when there are fewer than four women, Mr. Finland said. Problems mount when there are more than four and fewer than 12 women in camp.

When there are more than 12 women, he said, "things sort themselves out a little better and happiness again reigns."

Peanuts Tempt Monkey Back

DUNCAN—A bag of peanuts finally persuaded the rhesus monkey "Tuffy" to return to his "parents" Mr. and Mrs. Jim Oyen after having enjoyed the wild life of the Cowichan Valley for six weeks. The monkey escaped when the reptile zoo moved from Glenora to its new location opposite the golf course.

He finally worked his way down to the Quamichan area, living off the land and hand-outs of pie and candy. Last Sunday the zoo received a call from Jaynes Road and without much hesitation Tuffy walked into the same trap set for him during a similar escape five years ago.

Printed Word Important In Event of Emergency

The vital part played by public information services in civil defence planning was outlined at the conclusion of a three-day civil defence course for press, radio and TV representatives yesterday.

News wire services and the CBC would be represented at federal and regional headquarters of the civil defence warning complex, he said.

Mr. Donoghue is on loan from the army to the Emergency Measures Organization at Ottawa.

Not Fit to Drive

John Hackett, 467 Lampson Street, was fined $500 in Saanich magistrate's court yesterday for criminally negligent driving.

Magistrate William Ostler, who told Hackett he was "psychologically unfit to drive," prohibited him from driving anywhere in Canada for three years.

The charge arose from a head-on collision between Hackett's car and a car driven by Edward J. Whiting on Patricia Bay Highway near Elk Lake at 1.30 p.m. April 20.

Witnesses said Hackett, driving to the Swartz Bay ferry, crossed a double line to pass a car and swung directly into the path of the Whiting car.

FIVE HOSPITALIZED

Five people went to hospital as a result of the collision: Mr. and Mrs. Whiting, 3336 Dawe Road, Hackett, Mrs. Mabel Wilson, 1240 Bewdley, and her son Robert, 15, who were passengers in the Hackett car. Hackett and Robert Wilson were later released.

Crown counsel Kenneth Murphy read out Hackett's record of previous driving offences, from 1957 onward. It included convictions for dangerous driving, driving while under suspension, passing on the right when unsafe, and speeding.

"WHY NOT?"

"Well, Mr. Monahan," said the magistrate, speaking to defence counsel, "why shouldn't he go to jail?"

Robert Monahan said his client, separated from his wife, was expecting his two children to come and stay with him in July. If he went to jail, he would not be able to pay for their support.

"I don't care if I ever drive again, Your Honor," Hackett said.

"SOME ADVICE"

"I think you're psychologically unfit for driving, if you want some advice," the magistrate said.

Witness Ronald Cunningham, 19, 5063 Wesley Road, said he followed in a car behind Hackett on Glenford Avenue before the accident and saw him pass another car on a hill at

Eichmann Hanged By Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters) — Adolf Eichmann's body was cremated early today and the ashes scattered on the high seas shortly after he was hanged in Ramleh Prison near here.

A government announcement said the cremation took place aboard an Israeli police boat. It pointed out that a "similar procedure was followed with the remains of Nazi war criminals executed by order of the Nuremberg tribunal."

The 56-year-old mass murderer of 6,000,000 Jews was the first man to be executed in the Jewish state since Israel was established 14 years ago. REQUESTED CREMATION
The government communiqué said Eichmann's will "includes a request that his remains be cremated."

The president Thursday issued this announcement: "The president of the State of Israel has decided not to exercise his prerogative to pardon the offender or reduce the sentence in the case of Adolf Eichmann."

DECISIVE ROLE
Eichmann, former head of the Gestapo's department for Jewish affairs, was sentenced to death for playing "a central and decisive part" in the planning and implementation of the Nazi program to exterminate European Jews.

Adolf Eichmann was tight-lipped when court found him guilty.

Green Hints Action On North Island Road

By TERRY HAMMOND

COURTENAY—Canada's usually mild-mannered External Affairs Minister Howard Green last night angrily charged the Liberal party with trying to goad the government into acceptance of nuclear warheads for the Bomarc.

Liberal attacks on the government's failure to equip the missiles with nuclear warheads were designed to lure Canada into the nuclear club so the Conservatives could be attacked on the hustings, Mr. Green told close to 200 here.

"The government held the line in spite of the most deliberate attacks by the Liberals," Mr. Green stated.

HAS EQUIPMENT
He said Canada has the equipment with which to employ nuclear warheads but doesn't want to accept them because to do so would mean adding to the number of nuclear-armed nations.

Attendance at the meeting was considered remarkable in view of other simultaneous attractions — a Legion bingo game 50 yards away and a giant auction a block down the street. Some observers saw it as an upswing for the Tories in what two weeks ago was considered an unlikely riding to retain.

LUMBERMAN
Mr. Green was speaking on behalf of Comox-Alberni candidate Harry McQuillan, a Courtenay lumberman first elected to Parliament in 1958. His major salvoes were fired at the Liberals.

Liberal leader Lester Pearson's charge of diminishing Canadian prestige throughout the world through the Conservative regime is "an allegation taken holus-bolus from a Democratic attack on the Republicans in the last U.S. election," he said.

PRIVATE COMPLIMENTS
Liberal MPs had privately complimented the government on Canada's foreign affairs policies, the minister added, and then gone "out on the hustings and said Canada's prestige has suffered just for the sake of the election."

Recalling the Liberal's controversial closure of the 1957 pipeline debate, he asked, "who are these saviours of Canada today?"

"They are five of their cabinet members and five of their senior civil servants," he said.

Pearson Pledges 'Brain Trust' To Solve Crises

VANCOUVER (CP)—Liberal Leader Pearson was given a warm reception, sprinkled with some interruptions but most of them friendly, when he declared Thursday night the first thing he will do if elected is appoint a task force of brains to solve current difficulties.

The Liberal leader spoke in the posh Queen Elizabeth Auditorium, and there were no demonstrations or placard bearers inside other than those sponsored by the Liberal party.

Outside a group of about 25 pickets paraded with placards similar to some of those used at Prime Minister Diefenbaker's meeting in the big old Vancouver Forum.

DISTURBED
Mr. Pearson said he was disturbed at the demonstration which prevented a proper hearing for Mr. Diefenbaker Wednesday night.

The Liberal leader ended his address with a pitch for sincerity in politics, almost identical with one he delivered two nights ago in Edmonton.

WILL PICK BRAINS
The interruptions Thursday were similar in number and nature to those Mr. Pearson met in Edmonton, but again many of them were inaudible at the front of the big modern theatre with its sound-absorbing acoustics.

Mr. Pearson said if he is elected prime minister June 18 — as he confidently predicts — he will call on the best brains of management, labor and farm organizations to form a task force to tackle what he called "the mess" the Conservatives have created.

"How are you going to do it?" he asked.

Some 26,000 B.C. coast lumber workers will vote by secret ballot in the next few days on a proposal for a 16-cent-an-hour wage increase spread over two years.

It was part of the settlement recommended by Dr. Neil G. Perry, dean of the UBC commerce faculty, which was made public yesterday.

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson also disclosed at a press conference in Victoria that Dr. Perry failed to bring about settlement between Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., representing 150 employers, and the International Woodworkers of America.

BEFORE EXPIRY
Dr. Perry was appointed mediator to try for settlement before June 14 contract expiry.

The next move, said Mr. Peterson, is for both parties to consider Dr. Perry's recommendations. The minister said he was advised neither group would have any immediate comment to make.

"I would say this," said Mr. Peterson, "Dr. Perry is an outstanding person, able and well qualified, who has put a great deal of research and study into the dispute which exists within our major industry."

MERITS CONSIDERATION
"I am confident his report merits serious consideration by both parties."

Mr. Peterson refused to comment on the likelihood of a strike in the lumber industry. Union officials, however, this week counselled the 26,000 IWA members in the coastal region of B.C. to prepare for a strike. A spokesman said: "There is only one sensible thing to do—work for the best and prepare for the worst."

The companies must also either accept or reject the recommendations.

NO SETTLEMENT
Dr. Perry said in his report dated May 30 he held a series of discussions with both parties, but now had to report regretfully that it has not been possible to effect a settlement.

The mediator recommended a new two-year contract with an additional eight cents an hour across the board effective June 15 this year and a further eight-cent increase starting June 15, 1963.

Other recommendations include additional paid holidays for employees with more than 15 years' service and pay at the standard rate of $2 an hour.

'I Had to Obey ... I Am Ready'

By AYRE WALLENSTEIN

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters) — I watched Adolf Eichmann hang. He dropped through the gallows trap-door to his death just before midnight.

Eichmann was calm, self-possessed and defiant to the end. Just before the noose was put around his neck, he said: "Long live Germany, long live Argentina, long live Austria. . . I had to obey the laws of the war and my flag."

"I am ready."

He then looked at us journalists facing him from a distance of a yard or so away, and with a ghostly smile on his lips, he said:

"After a short while, gentlemen, we shall meet again—so is the fate of all men. I have been believing in God all my life, and I die a believer in God."

The gallows were in a small room—only 3½ by four yards in size—at Ramleh Prison near here, which was surrounded by a cordon of security men.

Eichmann's last minutes were marked by neither remorse nor repentance. In a cloak-and-dagger operation, I was taken Thursday night from a house in Tel Aviv to the police station at Ramleh from where, about an hour later, I was escorted into the heavily guarded prison, compound surrounded by a double perimeter of barbed wire.

A police car blocked the road about a mile from the prison, and a heavy spiked chain road-block had to be removed to let us pass.

Only a few yards from the prison gates, an armored car manned by Israeli border police in size-at Ramleh Prison near here, which was surrounded by a cordon of security men.

Prairie Doctors Sell Up

SASKATOON (CP)—Dr. M. G. Kunkel, president of a company of 50 doctor-shareholders in Saskatchewan's Medical Arts Building, announced Thursday that the building is for sale.

He said the decision was reached Wednesday night at a meeting at which members expressed the view that the provincial government was "not showing any signs of considering the health needs of the people of Saskatchewan and will go ahead with its plans to foist the medical care plan on the province."

In Regina, Dr. H. A. Brown, chairman of the board of the Medical Arts Clinic, said sale of the newly renovated and expanded Medical Arts Building is under consideration. A real estate agency said sale of the medical and dental building, owned by doctors and dentists, is also being considered.

Restrict Canadian Wood Northwest Urges JFK

WASHINGTON (CP) — Congressmen Walter Norblad urged President Kennedy yesterday to place immediate import quota limiting shipments from Canada to 10 per cent of the total U.S. softwood market.

The Oregon Republican sent a letter to Kennedy saying that the U.S. industry, facing stiff competition from Canadian exporters, is "in serious peril unless you immediately order stop-gap relief."

Norblad called for an import quota limiting shipments from Canada to 10 per cent of the total U.S. softwood market. Canada last year had about 13 per cent of that market, with shipments valued at some $200,000,000 for the year.

Sunday School Rally Set for Band, Choir

A massed choir and 100-piece band will stage a mammoth centennial Sunday School rally in Beacon Hill Park at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Children from Port Renfrew, Sooke, Chemainus and Sidney as well as the Greater Victoria area will be represented in the 450-voice choir.

Choirs will form up at the aviary and Robert Burns monument to begin a procession through the park to the Cameron Band Shell.

Three Experts Appointed

Team to Probe Unrest In City's Public Works

By TED SHACKLEFORD

A committee of three experts in widely different fields has been appointed to survey Victoria's public works department from top to bottom.

The startling move was made at a closed meeting of city council yesterday. The department is headed by city engineer James Garnett.

It follows strong rumors of unrest among public works department staff, dramatic resignation of a senior official and unprecedented intervention by Vancouver Island architects.

FIRST MEETING

First meeting of the committee will be held Tuesday. No estimate of how long the survey would take was available last night.

"In view of the resignation of one of the senior staff, it seems an opportune time for a survey to be made of the public works department," Mayor R. B. Wilson said.

THREE EXPERTS

The committee consists of an expert in municipal government — city manager C. C. Wyatt; an engineering expert — Col. W. G. Swan; and an accounting expert — G. Fitzpatrick Dunn.

"We feel the committee will bring in a factual report of the conditions in the public works department," Mayor Wilson added.

"The department is the largest spender of public funds and an occasional analysis of its operation is simply good business practice."

'DEAN' OF ENGINEERS

Col. Swan is acknowledged as the "dean" of professional engineers in B.C. He is senior partner in the Vancouver firm of Swan and Wooster, past president of the Engineering Association of B.C., a life member of the Engineering Institute of Canada and a member of the Consulting Engineering Association of Canada.

DOES AUDITS

Mr. Dunn is senior partner in the Victoria firm of Ismay, Boston and Dunn, which carries out city hall audits. He is a past president of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of B.C., a past president of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce, a past president of Victoria chamber and a past director of the Canadian chamber.

SURVEY ORDERED

Mayor Wilson said last night the survey was ordered partly as a result of rumors of unrest among public works department staff. It is aimed at finding out if there is unrest, its cause, and how to correct it.

Rumors have been current at city hall for some weeks preceding a recent reshuffle of staff positions which saw Roderick Clack shifted from his position as head of the city's planning and inspection division and replacement by William Jorgenson, formerly sewer engineer. Mr. Clack was given planning duties.

AFTER CHANGE

Soon after the change, city traffic engineer Norman Worsley resigned his $700-a-month job after 11 years' service with the city, without giving any reason. He has steadfastly refused to disclose why he resigned.

WYATT ASKED

And, soon after Mr. Worsley resigned, the Vancouver Island chapter of the Architectural Institute of B.C. asked city council to reconsider the change in Mr. Clack's position.

Last Thursday Mr. Wyatt was asked by city council to look into the situation.

Obedience On Trial

Dumbbell-bearing jumpers are two champions training for dog obedience trials slated by Victoria Dog Obedience Training for Saturday at Badminton Hall, at 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Judges will be Frederic E. Marsh of Seattle and Mrs. Arthur Bourassa of Cloverdale. Jumpers are Labrador Mooshank's Merry Major, left, owned by Mrs. R. B. Bates, and golden retriever Golden Honey, owned by Mrs. J. L. Smith. —(Colonist photo).

Youth Admits Drink Spree

NANAIMO — James Patrick Young, 19, who Wednesday pleaded not guilty to three charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency and one charge of possessing liquor while under 21, yesterday appeared again before magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts and changed his plea to guilty. Police said Young was the owner and operator of a car in which three girls aged 14, 15 and 16 were driven between Cowichan Lake and Nanaimo on Tuesday and supplied generously with liquor.

In passing sentence Magistrate Beevor-Potts said he regarded the offence as an extremely serious one. One of the girls had been found in a vacant lot in a condition requiring hospital care and the other two had attempted to injure themselves later in police cells.

He accepted probation officer's report that Young had been "led down the garden path" by his older companion Cottrell, 20, who was sentenced to six months and required to pay $350 in fines Wednesday on similar charges.

Nevertheless the magistrate imposed fines totalling $250 on the first three charges with two months and 40 days in default, and an additional fine of $50 on the charge of possession of liquor. He was indicted with regard to all liquor and made subject to any further restrictions the probation officer might see fit to impose.

Nanaimo Man Gets Six Years

NANAIMO — Peter Louis Martin Day was found guilty on a charge of manslaughter Thursday in the Assize Court at Nanaimo and sentenced to six years in the penitentiary. On an additional charge of assault with intent to commit grievous bodily harm he was also sentenced to six years, the sentences to run concurrently.

The trial, which lasted all week, resulted from the death of Donald Butler in a street fight at Courtenay last January, and was the second trial concerned with that occurrence. The week before last, Gary Parkinson, also of Courtenay, was convicted on the same charges and sent to penitentiary for five years.

Mr. Justice J. S. Aikens imposed the longer sentence in the case of Day because of Parkinson's immaturity and also because Day had five previous convictions. While none of these convictions involved violence they were all of a comparatively serious nature.

'In National Interest'

Gelling Drops From Contest

W. C. Gelling has withdrawn as Independent Conservative candidate in the June 18 federal election.

He said yesterday his action was based on the belief that the national interest takes precedence over any local issues.

"I feel that it is in the best interest of Canada that the Progressive Conservative party be re-elected," said Mr. Gelling. "Therefore I have no alternative but to withdraw my name as an Independent Conservative candidate."

'CLOSE RANKS'

Mr. Gelling called on his supporters to close ranks behind A. DeB. McPhillips, Progressive Conservative candidate in Victoria, and "join me in supporting the party's program in the national interest."

It was Mr. Gelling's attempt to oppose Mr. McPhillips for the Conservative nomination that sparked a row which led to the former school board chairman's decision to run as an independent.

Officials of the local Conservative association ruled Mr. Gelling was ineligible to stand for nomination because he hadn't been a party member for the required 30 days.

He announced, after the nomination went to Mr. Mc-

Phillips, that he would oppose the Conservative candidate as an independent and let the voters have final say in the dispute. Yesterday, however, after review of his own position and the state of the campaign, Mr. Gelling decided to withdraw.

'NATIONAL INTEREST'

Mr. Gelling said in a prepared statement: "I would like to thank the many people who have come forward to encourage me in my endeavor."

"I am prepared to re-offer my services in the future, but at this time I ask that they join me in supporting the Progressive Conservative program in the national interest."

Riders Get 'Carpet'

A grader and a scoop shovel were used to spread more than 600 yards of topsoil over the floor of Memorial Arena yesterday for the Vic-Van Isle Kinsmen Club Centennial Rodeo, starting at 8 p.m. today. Riders will compete again at 2 and 8 p.m. Saturday. After the show, the topsoil valued at $1,700 will be scooped up and sold to the city. —(Colonist photo.)

Dual Power Project Called Impractical

PENDER ISLAND—Dual development of the Peace River and Columbia power projects is "very impractical," Colin Cameron, NDP candidate for Nanaimo riding, told a campaign meeting here.

Speaking in Hope Bay hall in this North Pender community, Mr. Cameron said:

"The whole Columbia River treaty should be renegotiated and removed from the arena of political axe-grinding."

Mr. Cameron said medicare was "inevitable" for protection of the health of citizens, but urged the government to make some approach to the medical profession to draft "positive proposals."

The candidate criticized the recent devaluation of the Canadian dollar as "the Conservatives' fire sale on Canadian natural resources to foreign investors," and said the resulting inflow of foreign investment would force the dollar up again.

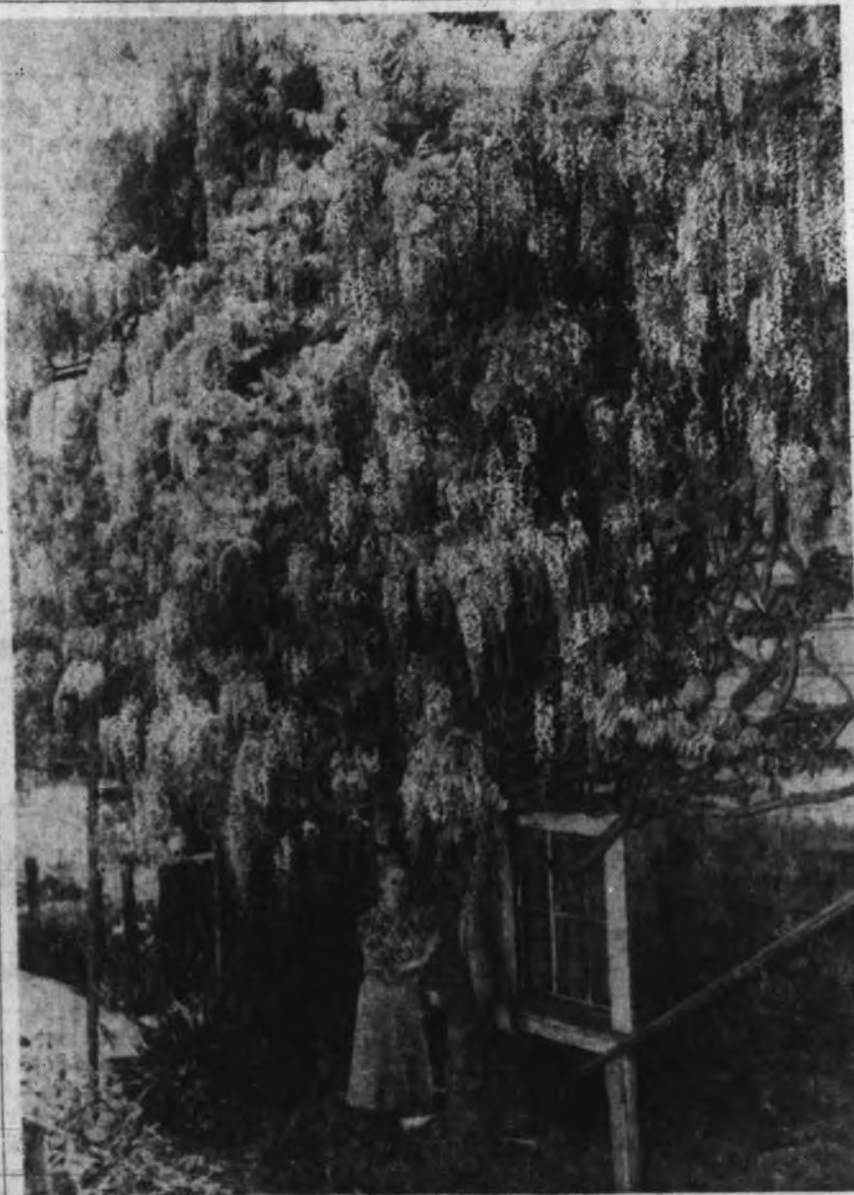

Man Draws Suspended Sentence

NANAIMO — In Assize Court Thursday Mr. Justice J. S. Aikens sentenced Ronald Pitman of Alberni to one year's suspended sentence. He was convicted a week ago of criminal negligence over the death of Theodore Felix Brooks, a forest warden, in a hunting accident near Alberni last November.

Mr. Justice Aikens laid down the provision that Pitman be deprived of the use of firearms for one year, but said he was favorably impressed with the appearance and attitude of Pitman, as he had seemed distressed by the result of his action, and was clearly not, in the words of defence counsel Ron MacIsaac, a hood.

Charges Dismissed

DUNCAN — Eight charges against Mrs. Molly Parsons and Eric Gray of Vancouver, who pleaded not guilty to having fraudulently obtained $2,800 and a further $140 from Lake Cowichan logger John Nordin over a period of 10 years to finance an alleged logging operation, were dismissed in County Court here.

Peanuts Tempt Monkey Back

DUNCAN — A bag of peanuts finally persuaded the rhesus monkey "Tuffy" to return to his "parents" Mr. and Mrs. Jim Oyen after having enjoyed the wild life of the Cowichan Valley for six weeks. The monkey escaped when the reptile zoo moved from Glenora to its new location opposite the golf course.

He finally worked his way down to the Quamichan area, living off the land and hand-outs of pie and candy. Last Sunday the zoo received a call from Jaynes Road and without much hesitation Tuffy walked into the same trap set for him during a similar escapade five years ago.

Eichmann Hanged By Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters) — Adolf Eichmann's body was cremated early today and the ashes scattered on the high seas shortly after he was hanged in Ramleh Prison near here.

A government announcement said the cremation took place aboard an Israeli police boat. It pointed out that a "singular procedure was followed with the remains of Nazi war criminals executed by order of the Nuremberg tribunal."

The 56-year-old mass murderer of 6,000,000 Jews was the first man to be executed in the Jewish state since Israel was established 14 years ago.

REQUESTED CREMATION
The government communiqué said Eichmann's will "includes a request that his remains be cremated."

Eichmann had sent President Izhak Ben-Zvi his plea for clemency Wednesday, after the Israeli Supreme Court upheld the death verdict rendered by the court that tried Eichmann last year in Jerusalem.

The president Thursday issued this announcement: "The president of the State of Israel has decided not to exercise his prerogative to pardon the offender or reduce the sentence in the case of Adolf Eichmann."

DECISIVE ROLE
Eichmann, former head of the Gestapo's department for Jewish affairs, was sentenced to death for playing "a central and decisive part" in the planning and implementation of the Nazi program to exterminate European Jews.

Israel's Supreme Court, in rejecting his appeal, described him as a "fanatical enthusiast" and spoke of his "insatiable blood-thirstiness" in carrying out "these unspeakably horrible crimes to his own gratification and satisfaction of his superiors."

Adolf Eichmann was tight-lipped when court found him guilty.

Grits Try to Lure Us Into A-Club—Green

By TERRY HAMMOND

COURTENAY—Canada's usually mild-mannered External Affairs Minister Howard Green last night angrily charged the Liberal party with trying to goad the government into acceptance of nuclear warheads for the Bomarc.

Liberal attacks on the government's failure to equip the missile with nuclear warheads were designed to lure Canada into the nuclear club so the Conservatives could be attacked on the hustings, Mr. Green told close to 200 here. "The government held the line in spite of the most deliberate attacks by the Liberals," Mr. Green stated.

HAS EQUIPMENT
He said Canada has the equipment with which to employ nuclear warheads but doesn't want to accept them because to do so would mean adding to the number of nuclear-armed nations.

Attendance at the meeting was considered remarkable in view of other simultaneous attractions—a Legion bingo game 50 yards away and a giant auction a block down the street. Some observers saw it as an upswing for the Tories in what two weeks ago was considered an unlikely riding to retain.

LUMBERMAN
Mr. Green was speaking on behalf of Comox-Alberni candidate Harry McQuillan, a Courtenay lumberman first elected to Parliament in 1958. His major salves were fired at the Liberals.

Liberal leader Lester Pearson's charge of diminishing Canadian prestige throughout the world through the Conservative regime is "an allegation taken out of context in a Democratic attack on the Republicans in the last U.S. election," he said.

PRIVATE COMPLIMENTS
Liberal MPs had privately complimented the government on Canada's foreign affairs policies, the minister added, and then gone "out on the hustings and said Canada's prestige has suffered just for the sake of the election."

Recalling the Liberal's controversial closure of the 1957 pipeline debate, he asked, "who are these saviours of Canada today?"

"They are five of their cabinet members and five of their senior civil servants."

Pearson Pledges 'Brain Trust' To Solve Crises

VANCOUVER (CP)—Liberal Leader Pearson was given a warm reception, sprinkled with some interruptions but most of them friendly, when he declared Thursday night the first thing he will do if elected is appoint a task force of brains to solve current difficulties.

The Liberal leader spoke in the post-Queen Elizabeth Auditorium, and there were no demonstrations or placard bearers inside other than those sponsored by the Liberal party.

Outside a group of about 25 pickets paraded with placards similar to some of those used at Prime Minister Diefenbaker's meeting in the big old Vancouver Forum.

DISRUPTED
Mr. Pearson said he was disturbed at the demonstration which prevented a proper hearing for Mr. Diefenbaker Wednesday night.

The Liberal leader ended his address with a pitch for sincerity in politics, almost identical with one he delivered two nights ago in Edmonton.

WILL PICK BRAINS

The interruptions Thursday were similar in number and nature to those Mr. Pearson met in Edmonton, but again many of them were inaudible at the front of the big modern theatre with its sound-absorbing acoustics.

Mr. Pearson said if he is elected prime minister June 18—as he confidently predicts—he will call on the best brains of management, labor and farm organizations to form a task force to tackle what he called "the mess" the Conservatives have created.

"How are you going to do it?" he asked.

Some 26,000 B.C. coast lumber workers will vote by secret ballot in the next few days on a proposal for a 16-cent-an-hour wage increase spread over two years.

It was part of the settlement recommended by Dr. Neil G. Perry, dean of the UBC commerce faculty, which was made public yesterday.

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson also disclosed at a press conference in Victoria that Dr. Perry failed to bring about settlement between Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., representing 150 employers, and the International Woodworkers of America.

BEFORE EXPIRY
Dr. Perry was appointed mediator to try for settlement before June 14 contract expiry.

The next move, said Mr. Peterson, is for both parties to consider Dr. Perry's recommendations. The minister said he was advised neither group would have any immediate comment to make.

"I would say this," said Mr. Peterson, "Dr. Perry is an outstanding person, able and well qualified, who has put a great deal of research and study into the dispute which exists within our major industry."

MERITS CONSIDERATION
"I am confident his report merits serious consideration by both parties."

Mr. Peterson refused to comment on the likelihood of a strike in the lumber industry. Union officials, however, this week counselled the 26,000 IWA members in the coastal region of B.C. to prepare for a strike. A spokesman said: "There is only one sensible thing to do—work for the best and prepare for the worst."

The companies must also either accept or reject the recommendations.

NO SETTLEMENT

Dr. Perry said in his report dated May 30 he held a series of discussions with both parties, but now had to report regretfully that it has not been possible to effect a settlement.

The mediator recommended a new two-year contract with an additional eight cents an hour across the board effective June 15 this year and a further eight-cent increase starting June 15, 1963.

Other recommendations include additional paid holidays for employees with more than 15 years' service and pay at the standard rate of $2 an hour.

Gates Clank Shut

The locked gates successively than he did in his bullet-proof owned and changed shut behind me as I walked into the prison building.

Minutes later, as I sat in a small room adjoining the imprisoned gaol chamber, I was told by the prison warden, Shmuel Yegor: "In five minutes the condemned man will be walking into the room next door."

Three minutes later I heard in the corridor outside a firm voice barking "Forward march" in Hebrew.

The Canadian evangelist missionary, Rev. William Hull, appeared in the corridor and right behind him I saw Adolf Eichmann, flanked by two guards to whom he was manacled.

Eichmann looked no different

here, which was surrounded by a cordon of security men.

Eichmann's last minutes were marked by neither remorse nor repentance.

In a cloak-and-dagger operation, I was taken Thursday night from a house in Tel Aviv to the police station at Ramleh from where, about an hour later, I was escorted into the heavily guarded prison compound surrounded by a double perimeter of barbed wire.

A police car blocked the road about a mile from the prison, and a heavy spiked chain road block had to be removed to let us pass.

Only a few yards from the prison gates, an armored car again blocked our way.

Refuses the Hood

When a guard holding a black hood in his hands asked Eichmann, "Do you want it?" he answered, "I don't want it."

He then turned to the reporters facing him and said: "Long live Germany, long live Austria, long live Argentina, long live Australia, long live the three countries with which I have been linked most, and which I shall never forget."

"I greet my wife, my family and my friends."

"I had to obey the law of the war and my flag."

"I am ready."

Eichmann's face was ashen, but I could detect a defiant expression on it as he spoke to us his very last words in German. He said he was a "Gottgläubiger"—a believer in God—

Prairie Doctors Sell Up

SASKATOON (CP)—Dr. M. G. Kunkel, president of a company of 60 doctor-shareholders in Saskatchewan's Medical Arts Building, announced Thursday that the building is for sale.

He said the decision was reached Wednesday night at a meeting at which members expressed the view that the provincial government was "not showing any signs of considering the health needs of the people of Saskatchewan and will go ahead with its plans to foist the medical care plan on the province."

In Regina, Dr. H. A. Brown, chairman of the board of the Medical Arts Clinic, said sale of the newly renovated and expanded Medical Arts Building is under consideration. A real estate agency said sale of the medical and dental building, owned by doctors and dentists, is also being considered.

Restrict Canadian Wood Northwest Urges JFK

WASHINGTON (CP)—Congressman Walter Norblad urged President Kennedy yesterday to place immediate import restrictions on Canadian softwood lumber.

The Oregon Republican sent a letter to Kennedy saying that the U.S. industry, facing stiff competition from Canadian exporters, is "in serious peril unless you immediately order stop-gap relief."

Norblad called for an import quota limiting shipments from Canada to 10 per cent of the total U.S. softwoods market.

Canada last year had about 13 per cent of that market, with shipments valued at some $200,000 for the year.
